*How frightening at times to know that I am only one face among the many. Look, I see them in the streets and subways, those faces. And in the city's windows, staring back at me. But how blurry they seem, each face becoming part of every other face.
And yet . . . and yet I look again.
There is a single face in a crowded street.
That face stares at me in mute appeal.
A moment of recognition.
No matter that the face belongs to a member of society pushing a broom.
We are all humanity.*

*To live.
To laugh.
To forget time.*

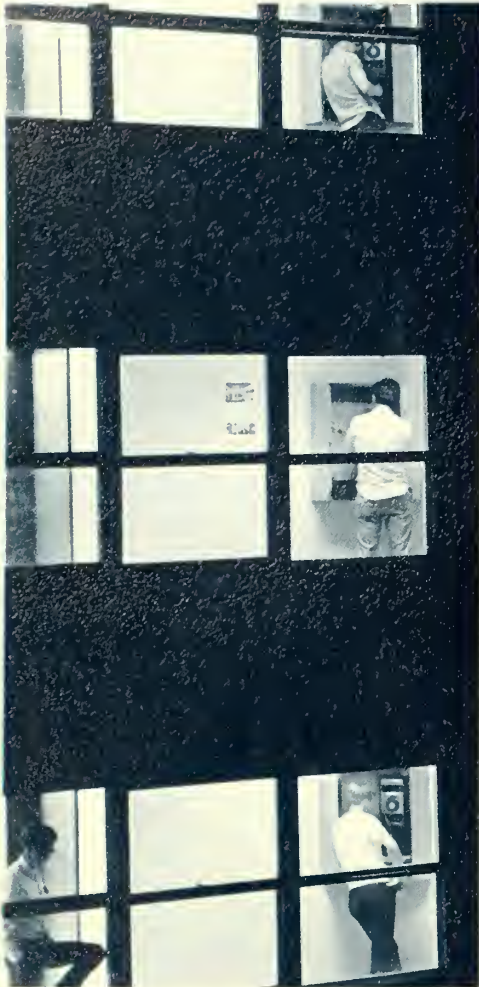

*To pull the blinds of habit from the eyes,
to see the world without names
for the first bright time, to wander through its mystery, to wonder at every age and stage, to be alive!*

day in day out day in day out next please next please yes no stop go no turn in out up down watch your step next please *seventeen eighteen twenty three fifty seven what was the number time to get ready now where did I put now where I forget

I remember tomorrow too late

Next please next please next please yes no yes no next please clickety-click quick stop go clickety-click push pull clickety-click press turn clickety-click quick quick quick quick tick tick tick tick . . . WAIT!

*All I once knew falls away under me.
There is wind in my head,
How high are the clouds?
Will I ever come down?
The sky holds its breath.
Today is a beginning.
Today I am new.*

*Will we ever reach that point where the road touches the sky?
There is no point.
There is only moving.
We leave ourselves behind.
Our wheels unwind us.
What will we find at the end?
Ourselves again, but changed.*

*Crash! and, winded, we come back to earth, full of dust and laughter, wiser than we were.
But when we are out in the world,
there is no time to wonder,
no time to breathe,
so much is happening.
The time goes singing away . . .*

*Our heroes are taking our breath away.
Will one of them swoop down from the clouds and carry us off?*

*If I could tell you what can never be said.
Listen. I have birds in my head, stars in my feet, clouds on my mind.
Take my hand! Take my hand!
There is something still to understand.
There are lessons to learn our books never taught.
There are things our parents forgot.*

*The days open their arms,
and we go out to harvest
the ripe fruits of the morning ...
The vaults of the past tower over us,
and, walking in their shadow,
in awe, we turn to face
the empty space of the future ...*

*We hold the present in our hands, hands that put together new shapes,
hands that grope for forms in clay,
and grace the forms of everyday . . .
hands that play the color of feeling in the rooms of the mind, on a silent canvas.*

*Slowly the unknown, under our questioning eyes, yields up its secrets and reveals new shapes, new worlds, new possibilities.
And once in a while, we take a day out of time to meet, to celebrate the world which made us and which we are making . . .*

CAMP

Freshmen Arrive for Orientation

On September 8 some 2,338 confused freshmen converged on the ASU campus for a week of orientation. They came with varied expectations, but all stayed basically the same way — confused.

The various meetings began and students were introduced to their advisors and were given a brief counseling before they were faced with registration.

During the week an attempt was made to help the students get acquainted by the staging of a dance on the Kroger parking lot and one in the Ballroom of the Carl R. Reng Center.

By the end of the week most freshmen at least knew where to find the Field House and the Reng Center Ballroom and how to do a few of the latest dance steps.

One day out of each semester students are assorted, ordered, and filed neatly. We are reminded again that we are 430-86-4453 not John Smith or Mary Jones.

Walk down stairs.

"Sorry, this class is closed."

"But I'm a senior."

"Sorry."

Walk up stairs.

Upstairs! Downstairs! Upstairs! Downstairs!

Oh the madness of it all!

Fill out more cards.

Final check point at last!

"Do you want an activity card?"

"No!"

"Do you want an ASU telephone?"

"No!"

"How about some insurance?"

"No!"

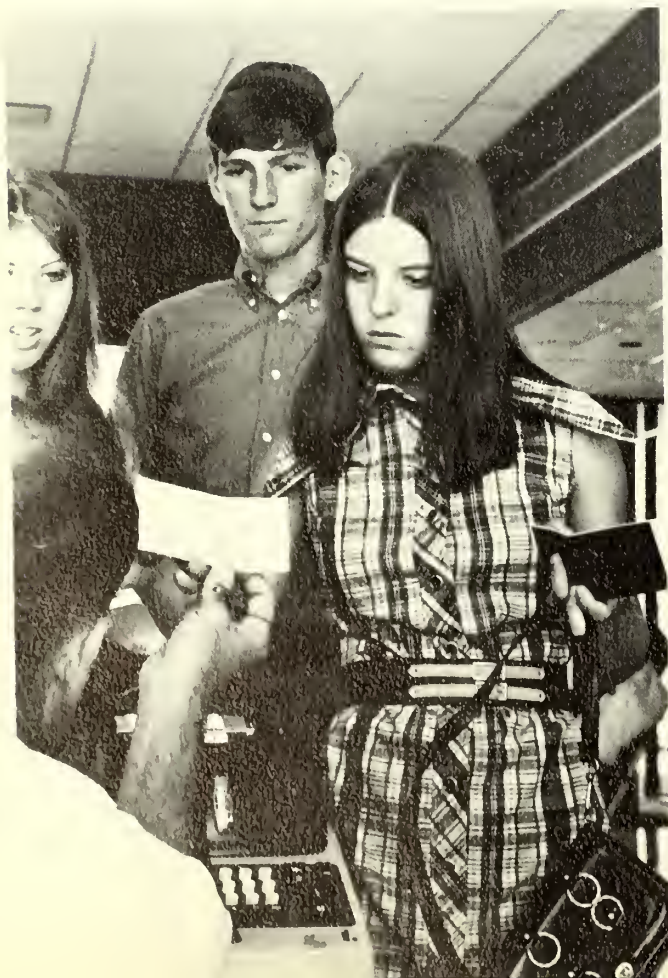

"Do you need a flu shot?"

"No!"

"Do you want to eat in the cafeteria?"

"No, . . . but does it really matter?"

Rush Week . . . Who Cares!!

For fraternity men fall rush was an encore of the usual hectic and hurried rush parties, smokers, hand shakes and oral persuasion. After the calm had fallen and formal rush was over, the combined fraternities found that they had received 54 new Greek pledges.

The sororities slowed down a little for fall rush by omitting from their rush schedules the traditional theme parties. The theme parties which added much gaiety and excitement to rush for rushees, also added numerous hours of mental and physical labor for sorority girls. At any rate, fall rush survived without theme parties, but at the final tallies for formal rush, all six sororities had only received 29 pledges.

To bring the total of new Greeks up to 109, all Greek groups combined accepted 26 pledges in open rush.

New Cafeteria Opens

The new cafeteria opened in full swing this fall as meals were served on all three floors. Students were frustrated for the first few days when they found that friends might be separated to eat on different floors. This was straightened out in a few days and most students settled down to accept the new building. However some (mostly upperclassmen) found fault with the color scheme of the new building, its structure, misspelled words and individual serving bowls. Freshmen, not being accustomed to Woodlands Cafeteria, found little fault with the new building. As one freshman said, "I like the cafeteria fine. Everyone will get used to it, and then in 20 years when they build another one, everyone will complain."

Students Dance at Brooklyn Bridge Concert

Strobe lights were throwing hues of red, orange, purple and green. A group of very modly-dressed guys with long hair and beards and one girl were on stage sending hard rock music over the building. Boys in the audience began to loosen their ties and girls kicked their shoes off beneath their chairs. When they could sit still no longer, they crowded the aisles and began to dance.

What's this? It can't be an SGA Concert at ASU. Not here where students come to the concerts dressed in uncomfortable clothes that they would usually wear to church or to a banquet and sit politely and listen to music that was written for dancing, and not for passive spectators.

Well, believe it or not, this was an SGA Concert on the Arkansas State University campus. The Brooklyn Bridge sent vibrations over the Field House and invited the students to find out how to really "let their hair down" and enjoy their kind of music.

Definitely crowd-pleasers, the Brooklyn Bridge aroused the enthusiasm of the students with some of their hits such as "The Worst That Could Happen," "I've Been Lonely Too Long," and "Blessed Is The Rain."

Phi Mu Alpha Wins AGD Talent Show

Students were given a chance to "ham it up" and display their secret talents as the curtains arose on the annual Alpha Gamma Delta talent show. Debbie Martin served as Mistress of Ceremonies and introduced the various entrants.

Phi Mu Alpha took first place with its barber shop quartet. Second place went to Alpha Omicron Pi for its sextet which sang a melody of songs from "Oliver." The Black Students Association's group, "Souls of Belcher," won third place singing "Baby, Baby."

Arthur Clarke Highlights Lecture-Concert Series

What will the world be like in the year "2001"? Arthur C. Clarke, co-author of the book and film: 2001: A Space Odyssey, had all the answers in the second lecture-concert series. He shared his feelings about world conditions to a full house and answered questions from the audience concerning the future of the world. Many of the answers were concerned with religion, science, the human body, food and mathematics. Clarke also explained many symbols and ideals he tried to represent in his book.

Greeks Participate in Songfest

Pi Kappa Alpha, Alpha Gamma Delta and Lambda Chi Alpha took first place honors in the annual Alpha Omicron Pi Songfest. The mixed choir sang "Vere Languroes Surely He Hath Borne Our Griefs," "Don't Be Weary, Traveler" and "Wait My Soul, With Patience."

Songfest was changed this year and instead of each group performing individually, the twelve Greek organizations in competition were divided into four groups of three. This change was met with mixed feelings. Every member of each group was not required to participate, but some Greeks felt a lack of unity and drive which had been present in individual performances of past years.

Songfest is sponsored by Alpha Omicron Pi sorority and all proceeds are donated to the National Arthritis Foundation.

“Little Olympics” a Success

Chi Omega, largely on the “strength” of their ability to gather pledge pins, easily won the annual Pi Kappa Alpha “Little Olympics” Oct. 4.

The Chi O’s also won the queen’s contest, wheel barrow race and limbo, and finished with a total of 103 points.

Phi Mu finished a distant second with 68 points, winning the tug-of-war and the song contest. Alpha Omicron Pi was third with a first-place finish in the pillow fight and six second place finishes.

Richard Simerson, PiKA president, said that it was the best “Little Olympics” ever, and estimated that more than 200 people received a mud bath. The participants walked to a nearby fire station to be hosed off after the competition ended.

Take a sunny December afternoon and place the Southland Conference champions at one end of the gridiron. Place the Drake Bulldogs, a team which spoiled the Tribe's homecoming by managing a tie after time had expired, at the other end of the field. Cover the game with regional television and show James Hamilton limping off the field after the first couple of minutes of action and you set the stage for the best story-book ending a successful football season could have. Wayne Crocker became the No. 1 hero among several A-State heroes as the Tribe gained revenge over Drake 29-21.

The Indians took it all that afternoon: Crocker received offensive player of the game, All-America tackle Clovis Swinney was the game's outstanding defensive player and the team took the victory.

Vietnam Moratorium at ASU Peaceful

At 8 a.m., Wednesday October 15, three students walked onto the lawn in front of the Education Building, spread out blankets, and sat down; at 9 a.m., 25 people had gathered, talking, and drinking coffee; at 10 a.m., 75 people listened to poetry being read; at 2 p.m., 150 people listened to and took part in songs, readings, and emotional and intellectual outbursts; and at 4 p.m., crowds dispersed as over 100 people walked, singing, into Wilson Auditorium. At 4 p.m., Wednesday, October 15, ten people presented a service in memory of Arkansas' Vietnam dead to a near capacity crowd. At 11 a.m., Friday, November 14, 75 people listened to Dr. Otto Zinke, a University of Arkansas professor, speak about United States involvement in Vietnam. All of these constituted parts of a nation-wide protest of government policy, headlined as the Vietnam Moratorium. Significantly, this was the first demonstration Arkansas State University has experienced and it was entirely peaceful.

Lecture-Concert
Series Presents
A Variety of Entertainment

The 1969-70 lecture-concert series offered a variety of entertainment ranging from soothing music to instructions on how to repel an assailant.

Charles E. Bohlen (above), an authority of Soviet and communist affairs, concluded the ASU series for the fall semester. Mr. Bohlen received the highest ranking career position in the department of state and served as ambassador to several countries.

Carl T. Rowan (top picture, opposite page), nationally syndicated columnist, author, diplomat and former director of the United States Information Agency opened the series. Mr. Rowan's columns are carried by more than 100 newspapers.

In cooperation with the AWS, the lecture-concert series committee presented Mr. Fred Storaska. Storaska (left) gave ASU coeds helpful hints on how to escape a personal attack.

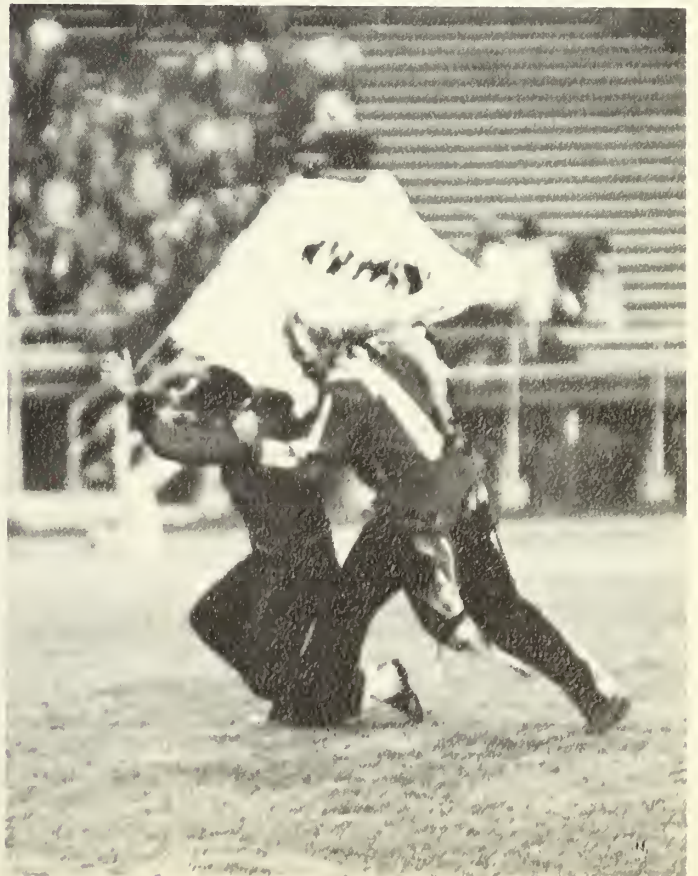

Concluding the lecture-concert series was the 84 member Kansas City Philharmonic Orchestra, under the direction of guest maestro Brian Priestman.

Pep rallies were put in a new setting this year when they were moved from the Reng Center lawn to Kays Stadium. One fraternity and one sorority teamed together for each rally to supply a sometimes comical, sometimes satirical skit while cheerleaders tried to rouse students to get involved, and the Marching Indians provided the instrumental spirit. Arguments were both pro and con for the moving of pep rallies; but after the move was made it was accepted by the students as evidenced by the large crowds at each rally.

Drama Department Opens Season with “Odd Couple”

ASU's thespians opened their theatrical season in October with a production of Neil Simon's Broadway play, the "Odd Couple." When two men, one of which is divorced and the other in the process of being divorced, decide to live together, their subsequent incompatibility forms the basis for this comedy. A severe personality conflict is evident between the two men when the reasons for their failing marriages appear and they are forced to "break up" their living arrangement.

Escaping the prelude of an eerie moon-filled night, an usual sunny Sunday found ASU students turning into beasts — beasts of burden. November 2 — and Homecoming rests on the “campus architects.”

Greeks and independents meet in herds on their assigned lots, disperse, and return with a load of lumber, chicken wire, crepe paper, nails and the simple necessities to make the forms meet.

Hail to the female collegiate who brings crews of “strong backs” to aid in the construction of the display and the pursuit of dateless individuals.

Hail to the Homecoming chairman who revives the medium of that “dead era,” now referred to as “toil.” Oh, the bondage that binds these brotherhoods.

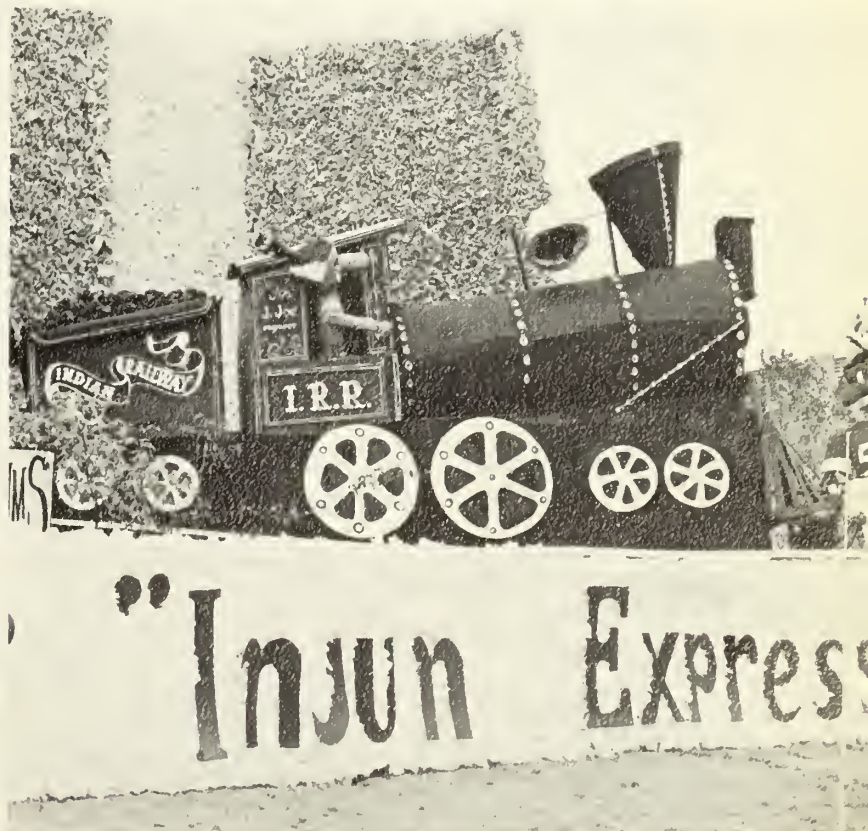

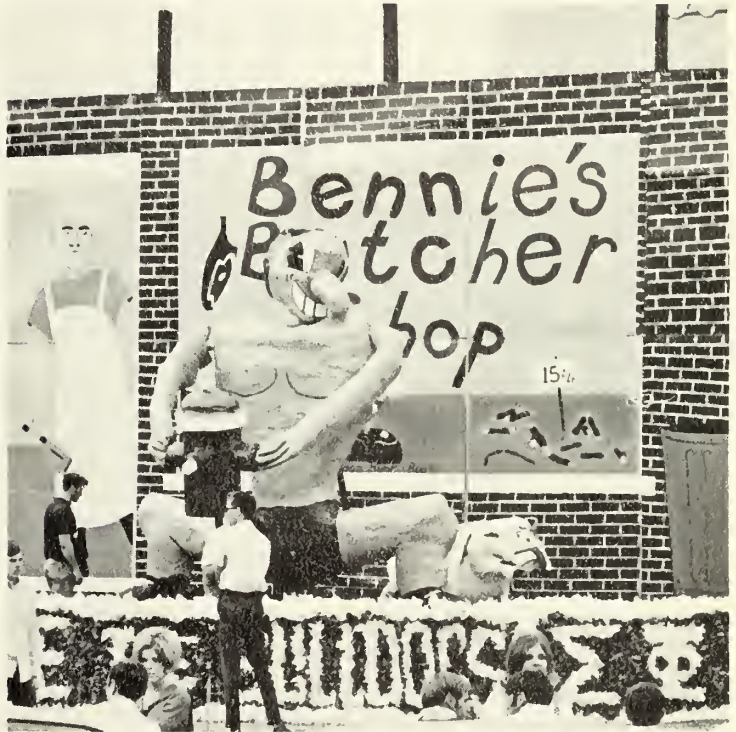

After a four-day lapse, the result appears successful — and Aggie Road boasts a colorful carnival.

Students return to their “Dr. Jekyll suits” to begin the weekend celebration with a bonfire followed by an SGA sponsored dance featuring “The New World.”

Homecoming Over, Aggie Road Returns to Normal

Drake University imposed on Homecoming enthusiasm with a last second touchdown drive and two point conversion that ended in a 21-21 tie.

Stevie Wonder in concert and "The Short Kuts" in dance aided in restoring spirits.

Sunny Sunday returned with even lower spirits to face the destruction of now sentimental displays. Three hours worth of destruction — and Homecoming is over.

SPE, ZTA, TKE Win Playhouse

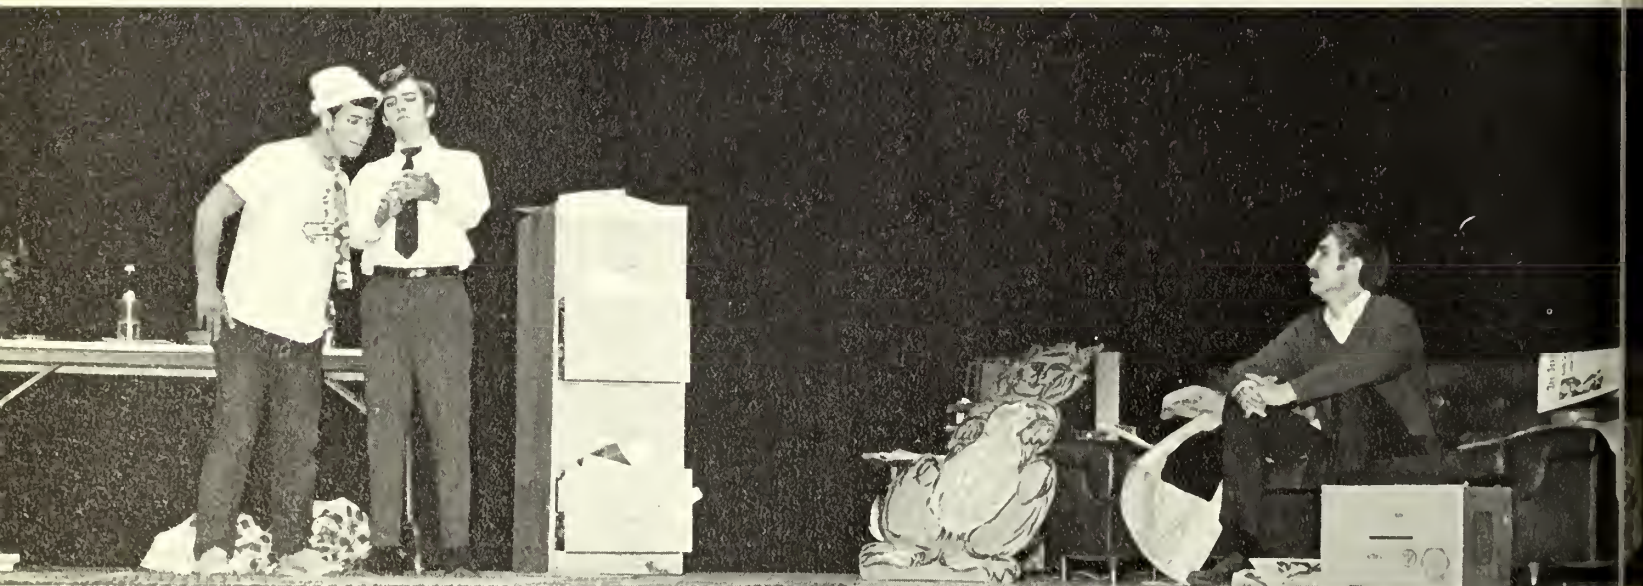

Amateur night at ASU—tiring rehearsals, a lot of make-up, a few disagreements between groups—all resulting in the annual Phi Mu Playhouse.

The Greeks managed to bring off their entries with the usual amount of finesse.

"Barefoot in the Park", a riotous comedy about the trials of a newlywed couple, brought first place to the trio composed of Zeta Tau Alpha, Sigma Phi Epsilon and Tau Kappa Epsilon.

Marsha McLarty received the best actress award and Kirk Howard was named best actor.

Proceeds from the event went to the traveling hospital ship, S. S. Hope.

ATO, AGD Win Sig Ep Tourney

Alpha Tau Omega and Alpha Gamma Delta placed first in the seventh annual Sigma Phi Epsilon All-Greek Bowling Tournament.

ATO outscored Sigma Phi Epsilon 61 pins in the fraternity division to gain the top spot. Members of the winning team were Mike Gilmer, Gus Funderburg, Larry Smith and David Young.

Drama Present Antigone, Lovers

The second production of the Drama Department was Jean Anouilh's greek tragedy, "Antigone". It involved two sons and two daughters of mother-loving Oedipus, departed King of Thebes, and his brother-in-law, Creon, who has now become king. The two brothers have had a civil war and have killed each other and Creon ordained that one of the brothers be left unburied. Antigone, a sister, defied the edict, heaped earth upon the dishonored corpse, and was buried alive for punishment.

The next production was "Lovers", which consisted of two one act plays. The first play was "Winners" and the second was "Losers".

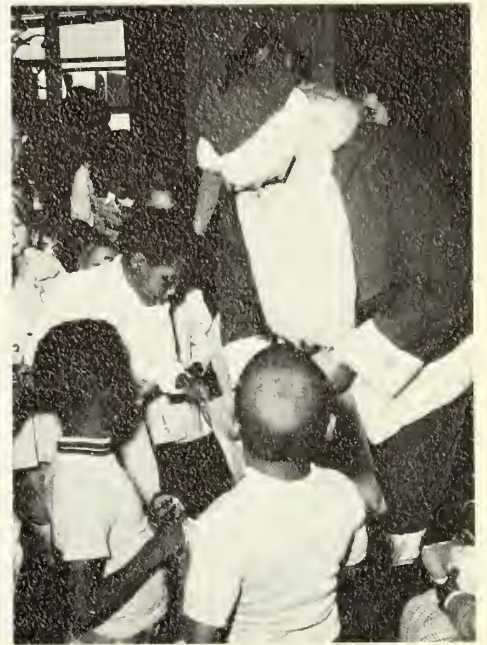

Holiday "Spirit" Flows Freely

Colored lights lined the outside edges of the building and a gaily lit tree stood on top. On the roof sat a sleigh drawn by reindeer, the one in the lead having a bright red nose. And in the sleigh was a plump, white bearded fellow in a bright red suit. On the lawn were carolers, and inside there were doughnuts and hot chocolate. Downtown there was a parade and inside there were parties. Smiles and warm greetings were a common denominator. Whether the increase in morale was due to the spirit of the time or mere anxiety of the up coming two week vacation could be debated. Trees were trimmed and gifts were exchanged. Good wishes were said and everyone left. It was Christmas, and it was ASU.

By the time Christmas trees were down and tinsel was stored away, Greek minds were filled with anticipation of the upcoming Spring Rush. Whether the anticipation was positive or negative rested solely with each individual.

Whoever named the time of Greek recruitment "rush" could not have chosen a more accurate word. From the beginning, Greeks "rush" to beat other Greeks to those prominent rushees; they "rush" to the stores to buy all the paint, tape, crepe paper, etc., that they can carry, only later to have to "rush" out the night before the party for last minute emergency supplies; then they "rush" to class and back to the dorm to work on props for theme parties.

Greeks are not the only ones who are in a "rush" during this time. Rushees begin by "rushing" out to register for rush; then off to buy new outfits to help polish up those first impressions; then the big "rush" from party to party.

For both Greeks and rushees, one thing will be remembered about the first few weeks of the spring semester: It was really a big "rush"!

Greeks Survive Rush — Barely!

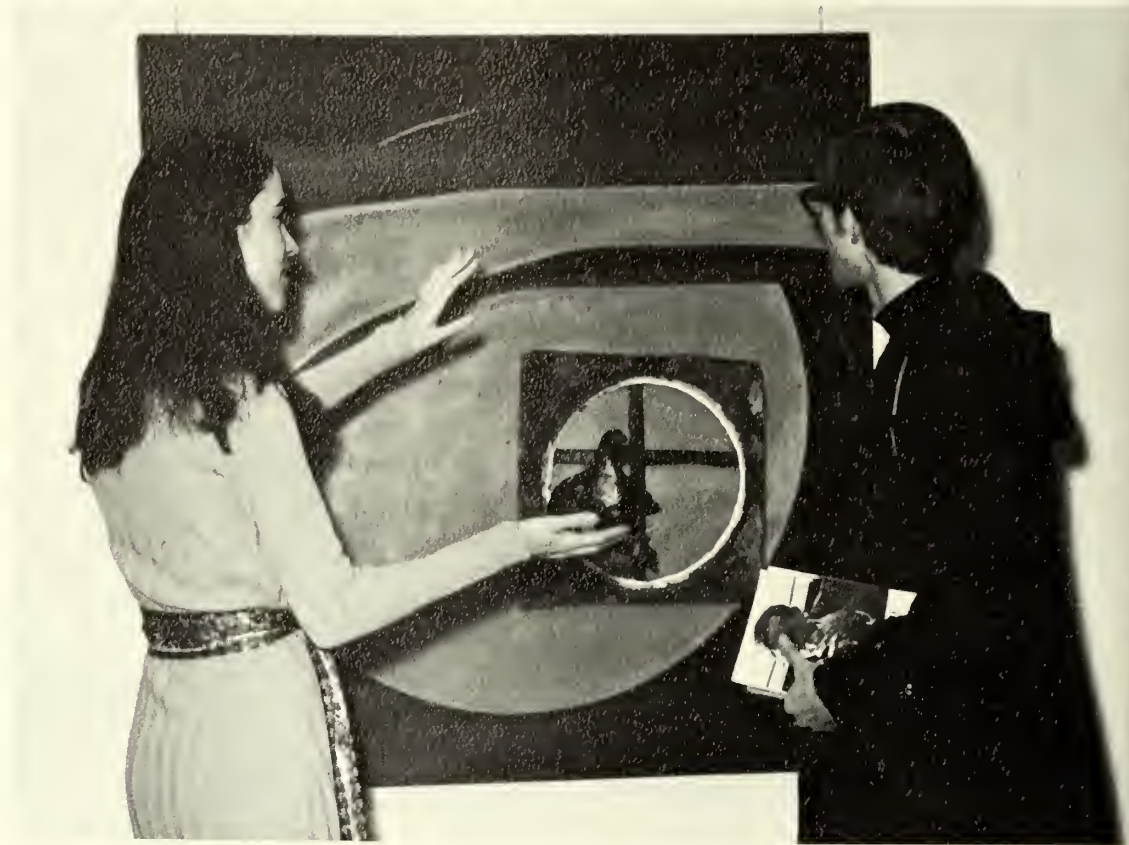

Caroling Turns Into Panty Raid

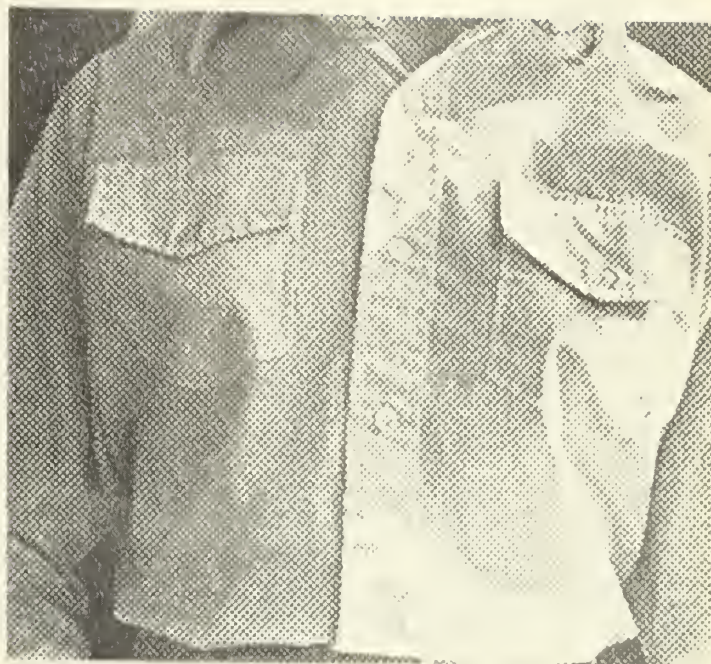

'Twas the night before Christmas break and all through the dorms, girls were contented with exchanging gifts and taking down Christmas trees. But hark! A rumble of male voices is heard from outside. "They're going to sing carols," exclaimed the girls! But the gathering crowd of boys had other things on their minds besides verbalizing prosaic seasonal lyrics for female entertainment. When the crowd gained enough courage the males made their intentions known. No sooner said than done, a shower of lingerie fell from the windows above. Thus igniting a spontaneous combustion, the crowd mushroomed and the ground was quickly covered with "undies."

It may be debated as to who was the cause of the incident or what were the effects, but it seems evident who profited from it. The downtown merchants' lingerie departments must have reached their peaks in sales the following day.

Fine Arts Sponsor Arkansas National Exhibition

In addition to the Fine Arts department's regular schedule of exhibitions, this year they sponsored the first national art exhibition for the state of Arkansas.

Sixty-five artists from 25 states had their art works in the show. The 82 different works displayed were chosen from a total of 1,002 submitted by 358 artists from 43 states and the District of Columbia.

Sig Ep's Play In Fingerbowl

The Tekes met the Sig Eps in the annual Tau Kappa Epsilon "Fingerbowl". The Teke Fingerbowl is the oldest bowl game at A-State. The Tekes were victorious with a tight score of 28-24 over the Sig Eps in the flag tag football contest. Attendance for the game was good, with all the sororities showing up dressed in costumes ranging from TKE cheerleaders to loyal fans of Snoopy. Chi Omega's theme, "Curse You Sig Ep", won first place. The crowd was amused at halftime by the TKE balloon-bosomed cheerleaders.

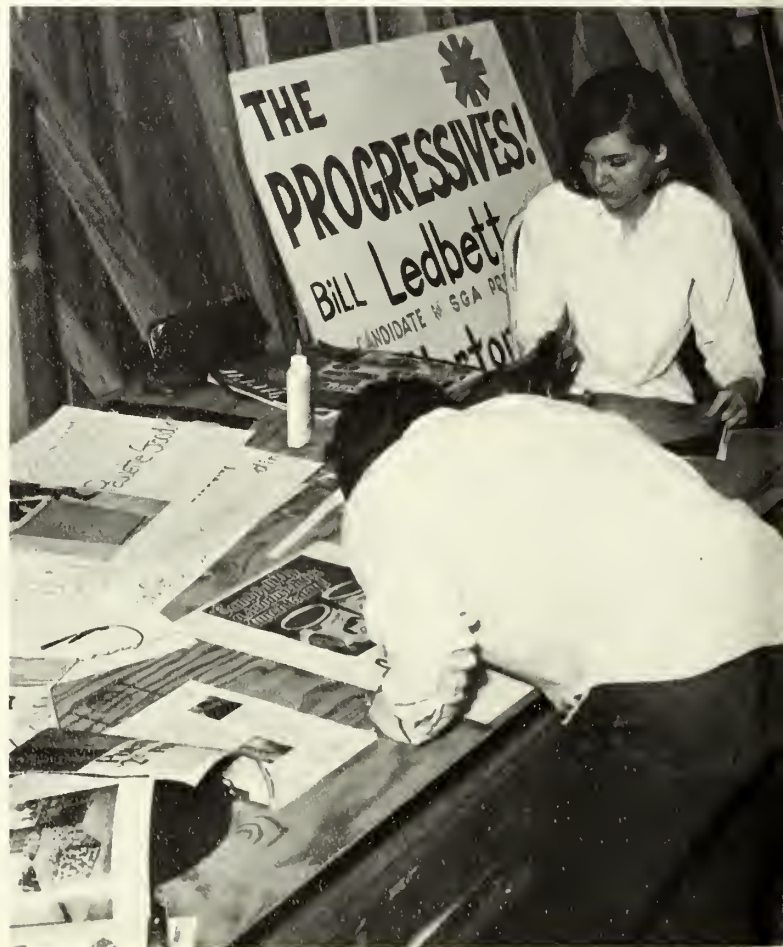

Lambda Chi "Little 500" Held in Kays Stadium

The 11th annual Lambda Chi Alpha "Little 500" was held in new surroundings. Instead of the traditional site along Aggie Road, the event was held on the track in Kays Stadium.

Kappa Alpha was victorious for the second year in a row with their entry "Rebel Yell". The Chi O's "Ozzie" won the sorority division. The Tricycle Grand Prix was won by AGD.

Peggy Phillips, LXA Crescent Girl, reigned as queen of the event.

Student Leadership Party Dominates SGA Elections

Begin with a few willing, or at least cooperative would-be candidates. Form a party and make a few propositions. Tag your party with a catchy name and start talking it up and start talking down the opposing party. Start shaking hands and putting up posters and signs. Be sure your sign is just a little bit bigger than the opposing party's. Stick little leaflets under the doors for disinterested students to walk on. Hold forums, press conferences and dances if you want the votes. And lo and behold — congratulations — you've started a campus election.

The 1969 Student Government Association election was no exception. As usual, signs, posters, leaflets, cards, hand shakes, smiles and campaign promises were handed out abundantly to the student body. However, for some reason the student body did not respond very heartily. The voter turnout was the lightest in several years. Only 1,507 students voted from an enrollment of 5,700.

The outcome of the election showed that this portion of the student body found its way to the voting machine favored the Student Leadership Party with eight of the top nine SGA offices. The ninth position was filled by a member of the Progressive Student Party who managed to be awarded a senatorial seat.

At the end of the election SLP members had congratulations, new jobs, and a status symbol. PSP members had only sunburns, tired bodies, and defeated egos.

First Edition, Jerry Lee Lewis In SGA Concerts

The spring semester began with a boom when the First Edition appeared in concert during the first week. The student body seemed enthusiastic about the concert and responded well to the group.

It was a somewhat different story concerning the next concert. Jerry Lee Lewis appeared on a Wednesday night (meeting night for several ASU organizations) and was not attended by very many students.

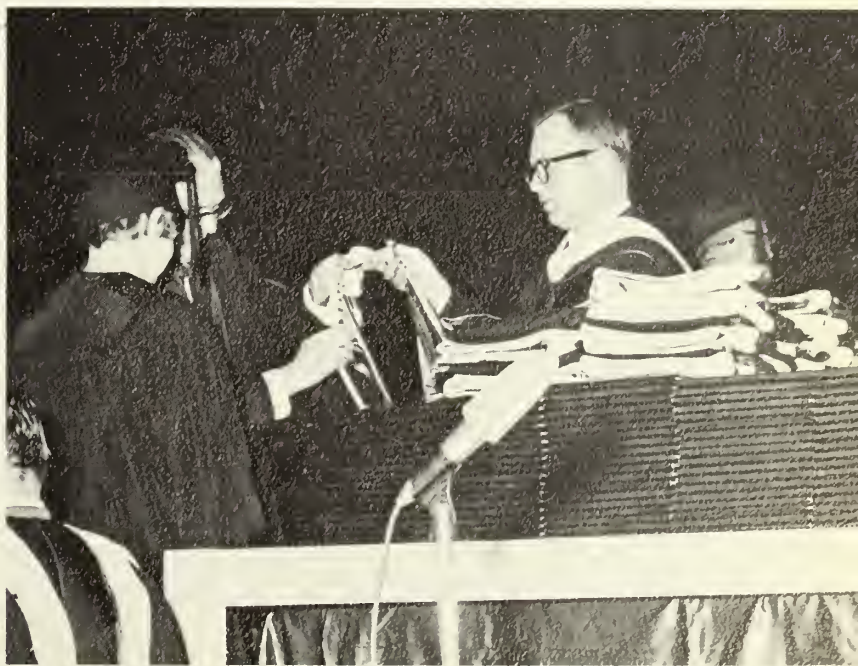

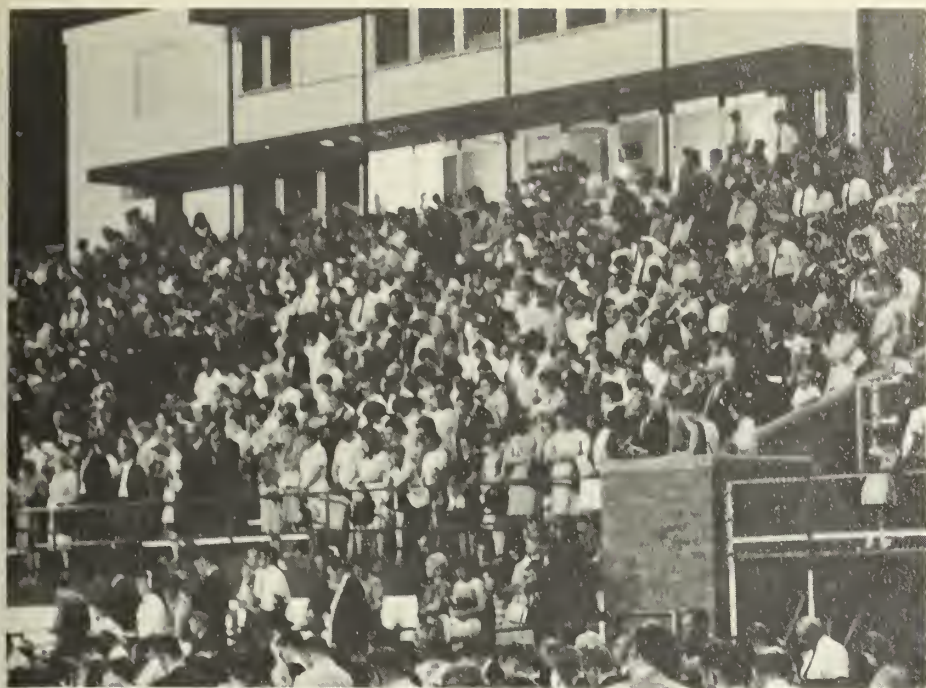

Graduation

When an ASU student reaches that much anticipated day of commencement, he most likely can look back and remember numerous occasions since that first day of freshman orientation when he would have liked to have just thrown up his hands and given up. There were those times when the pressure mounted, the tests all came on the same day and the days just weren't long enough to get everything done. There were research papers to be written, books to be read and problems to be solved when the sun and the lake were very tempting. Of course some yielded to the temptation, but how many of them does one see at the President's banquet or on the honor roll? But when the requirements are finished and the graduate holds that diploma in his hand, he may think back to what all this certificate represents. Strange how so much can be said in so few words on such a comparatively small piece of paper.

Queen Maria and her Court

It takes a lot of smiles, loyal, persuasive friends and people who like to use voting machines to become Homecoming Queen at ASU. Before one can count on these things, she must be nominated by some campus organization. After achieving this milestone, one must survive the balloting of the student body to be placed in that final round of "pick-and-choose." Just one more time through the voting machines, and what do you know — we have a Homecoming Queen!

Majorettes

To ignore the cold air's bite on their skin; to learn how to sit gracefully on the damp grass; to wear a big smile whether they feel like it or not; to practice for hours in order to be able to manipulate that long piece of metal between their fingers. These are but a few of the minor requirements for ASU majorettes. However, our majorettes seem to have all of these under control and march very proudly and efficiently with the Marching Indian Band.

Cheerleaders

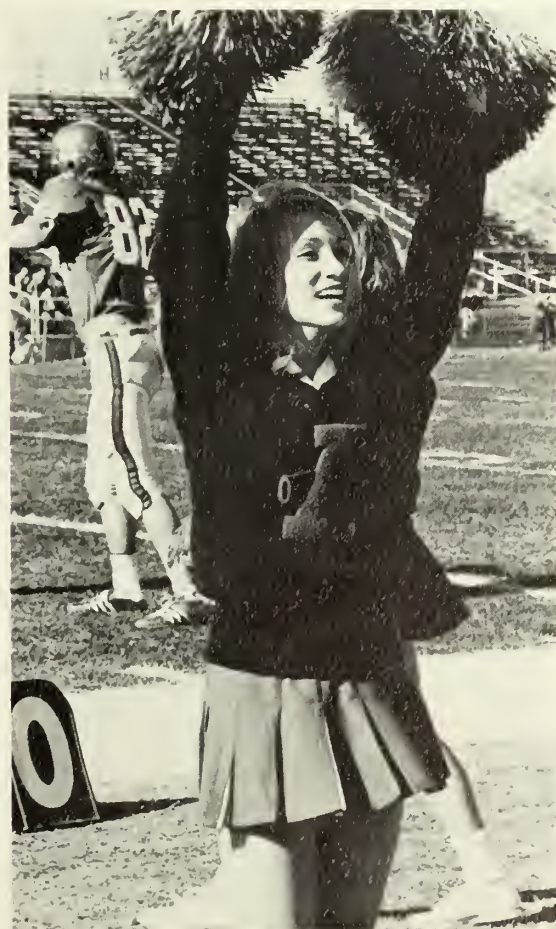

For the ASU cheerleaders this year brought an increase of two male cheerleaders and at the same time a decrease in skirt length for the girl members of the squad. Under the guidance of Gladys Hudgins, their sponsor, and head cheerleaders, Debbie Threet and Ronnie Helmbeck, the squad has added various acrobatics to their routines. It is the task of these noble leaders to try to arouse the spirit of the sometimes apathetic student body. Ronnie Helmbeck was chosen as outstanding cheerleader at the end of the basketball season.

ROTC Princess Platoon

The Princess Platoon is an organization of female students who are honorary officers of the cadet corps. Members are elected by the advanced corps and each girl is assigned to a company and a detachment of the corps.

These girls attend the drills of their respective companies, participate in the Christmas Parade and other community functions, are hostesses for social functions of the Division of Military Science and perform other duties ascribed by the division.

Members of the Princess Platoon retain this status until they graduate, marry, resign, fail to maintain an overall grade point average of 2.0 or are dismissed for cause by a board of officers.

Herald Staff

Creative thoughts, imagination, pictures, features, and the printing press are all involved in a regular edition of the Herald. This year the Herald was published twice a week, Tuesday and Friday. By using this device the students were kept well informed of campus news and events. The Herald has become the most effective news media on the ASU campus.

Arrow Staff Publishes Literary Work

The "Arrow", a literary magazine published within the English department, is criticized by certain portions of the student body as are all other campus publications. The literary work printed in the "Arrow" is written, edited, and arranged by students. These students have a depth, imagination, and originality to put on paper what they see in live.

Yearbook Staff Small But Efficient

As usual, the Indian Staff started out with almost four times as many members as it ended up with. In fact, on a bulletin board in our small and always cluttered room on the second floor of the Carl R. Reng Center is a list of the forty-some people who made it for the first meeting to join up in that glorious task of putting out a University yearbook. Those that weren't scared away that night came back for three to five more meetings. But, after all the work they had to do for class editor Pam Mortimer's section, we saw them no more.

Those that remained loyal to the staff were the paid editors and a small handful of others. Doug Szenher, assistant editor, had the job of producing the sports section and did a fine job considering the trouble he had getting pictures. Helping Doug with the sports section was Dave McDaniel and Robert Allen.

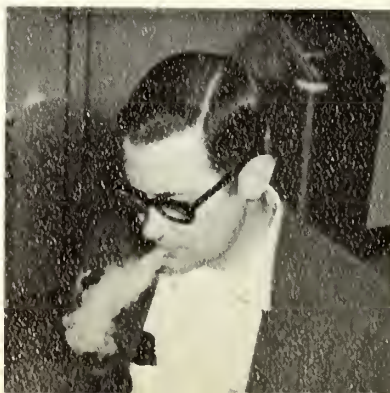

Helping Jo Ed Francis with the copy, which the editor always managed to misplace, was Lynn Dickerson and Patti Johnson. Don Jones, layout editor, had ample help from Ron Hopkins, who joined the staff during the second semester.

Even though our staff was small, we met all deadlines ahead of time with the help of our four photographers, advisor Tom Manning and Tom's secretary, Kathy Johnson.

Chi Omega

The Omicron Zeta Chapter of Chi Omega was installed at ASU in 1961. Now having 154 collegiate chapters, Chi Omega was founded at the University of Arkansas in 1895.

Chi Omega sponsors the National Achievement Award, a gold medal to be presented to women of notable accomplishments in the fields of public affairs, art, the professions, business and finance, education and letters. Each Spring Chi Omega awards a $25 Social Science Prize to a woman who excels in one of the Social Science Departments at ASU. Locally, Chi Omega's main project is "Christmas Kindness", which includes the helping of a needy family at this special time of the year.

Kappa Delta

The first Kappa Delta chapter was founded at Longwood College in 1897. Since that time KD has acquired 108 collegiate chapters. The Delta Kappa chapter was installed at ASU in March, 1968.

In the forty years since the Crippled Children's Hospital of Virginia was chosen as the organization to receive Kappa Delta's aid, over $300,000 has been given to further the work of this institution in Richmond. Kappa Delta also has its own Christmas seals. The money received from the sale of the seals is used to aid crippled children. KD gives three annual awards for orthopedic research to the American Academy of Orthopedic Surgeons.

Officers for the year were Lee Mitchell, president; Linda Hammond, vice president; Sharon Lott, treasurer; Ruth Martin, secretary; Rona Waits, editor; and Nancy Wright, membership chairman.

Division Of Military Science

A year of trial and tribulation in many areas of campus life reached its tentacles with particular vigor into the Division of Military Science. A student-formed Ad Hoc Committee questioned the academic relevancy of military science instruction as well as the moral issue of a forced ROTC curriculum.

Through it all, the division, though somewhat shaken, remained unscathed. The freshmen, still gullible and uncertain, were once again thrown into a world of drills, manuals of arms, orders and demerits. Sophomores moved on to new classes and the advanced course, under the direction of wisened seniors, integrated a certain amount of order into the otherwise helter-skelter confusion of the junior cadets.

ASU Museum

The Arkansas State University Museum offers a leisurely look into the past for those students exhausted by the hurried pace of campus life. Under the direction of Dr. and Mrs. Eugene B. Wittlake, the museum provides a source of reference and research in several fields, including the natural sciences, Arkansas pioneer history, antique china and glassware and Arkansas Indian culture. Rated as one of the finest in Eastern Arkansas, the museum is constantly adding to its already outstanding collection. Several student preparators assist Dr. and Mrs. Wittlake in the upkeep of the museum.

SPORTS

Spring Meet Disappointing

In its worst performance ever in the Southland Conference Spring Sports Festival, Arkansas State University fell far short of repeating as SLC All-Sports champions. The Indians entered the spring meet leading the All-Sports Trophy race with 19 points, but they were able to collect only seven and a half points in the meet, finishing last in tennis and golf and tied for fourth in track at the San Antonio, Tex., meet, and wound up in a disappointing fourth place in their attempt to repeat as champs. Host school Trinity took the trophy for the first time.

There was some consolation in the meet, however, as ASU's Thomas Hill was named the outstanding runner in the track competition. Hill broke his own 120-yard high hurdles record of 14.4 seconds with a timing of 13.7, and finished second in the 220-yard dash at 21.3.

Schedule Hurts Baseball Team

After two straight conference championships, the law of averages finally caught up with the Indian baseball team, as it finished in a tie for third in the Southland Conference race with a 4-4 record. The Tribe was 14-17 for the season, but A-State faced its stiffest schedule ever, competing against such nationally-ranked teams as Tennessee, Alabama, Iowa State, Creighton, St. Louis University, Mississippi, Mississippi State, Murray State and Memphis State. ASU started the season strongly, winning nine of its first 14 games, but a slump at the end of the season in which it lost seven of the last 10 spoiled a chance to better the .500 mark. Wayne Pitcock led the Indian hitters who saw action regularly with a .310 batting average for 100 times at bat. However, pitcher Rusty Bourg had a .316 average for 38 times at bat. John Ferriell, 3-2, Harry Langley, 3-3, and Bourg, 3-5 paced the A-State pitching. Bourg led in strikeouts with 37, followed by Charles Terral, who fanned 34 batters.

Track Team Shatters Records

Thomas Hill, sometimes appearing almost as a one-man show, sparked the Indian track team to another record-breaking year, as the Thinclads won three dual meets, one relays meet and finished second in three other meets.

Hill broke the state record for the 120-yard high hurdles three times during the season, and tied the state mark in the 220-yard dash. Charles Clarke and Billy Bell twice broke the discus and pole vault records respectively.

The Indians won dual meets against Memphis State, Mississippi and Murray State and took first place in the Zebra Relays at Pine Bluff. The Tribe finished second in the Memphis State Invitational, Civitan Invitational and Northeast Louisiana Relays.

Tennis, Golf Teams Have Tough Year

When ASU took the Southland Conference All-Sports Trophy in 1968, the tennis and golf teams contributed big points with third-place finishes, but last year the two squads fell to last place in the spring meet.

The netters started the season slowly, but had a six-game winning streak the last part of the season to finish at 6-11. Richard Brooks paced the squad with an 11-6 individual match record, followed by Brett Baker at 8-8.

The golf team finished the year above the .500 mark with a 4-3-2 record. Jim Heiber was the leading scorer, with an average round of 74.3 strokes. Cecil Treece finished second with a 76.0 average.

Indian Football

Arkansas State University's football team had a lot at stake at the beginning of the 1969 season. The Indians were the defending conference champions, they had finished high in the national rankings in 1968, and they were shooting for a second straight bid to the Pecan Bowl.

Unlike 1968, when they were considered a dark-horse, the 1969 Indians were picked to repeat as SLC champs, although stiff competition was expected, especially from Arlington and Abilene Christian. But the Tribe had some question marks which would decide how successful their season would be, notably, who would replace tailback Frank McGuigan and linebacker Bill Bergey, both All-Americans.

When the dust of the regular season had cleared, A-State had the top two runners in the SLC, the best defense in the league, a 7-1-1 season, a 4-0 mark in the conference and a second consecutive bid to the Pecan Bowl.

Sophomore Calvin Harrell proved he had the credentials to fill McGuigan's shoes, while soph fullback Marshall Walls provided more than adequate support for the running game. Although the ASU ground attack is centered on the tailback, Walls still managed to account for 564 yards rushing, good for second place in the conference behind Harrell's 841 yards.

However, what makes Harrell's total yardage even more impressive is the fact that he missed one complete game and more than three quarters of another due to an ankle injury.

The Indian rushing attack was tops in the league, averaging 216 yards a game, more than 84 yards better than the nearest other SLC team. The Tribe finished second in total offense, only 25.4 yards off the pace.

On defense, Clovis Swinney was a standout all year long, averaging 14 tackles a game, including an almost unbelievable one-game high of 24 against Tennessee Tech. He was selected to the Associated Press NCAA College Division All-America Team, along with center Dan Buckley. Offensive tackle Jack Smith received honorable mention on the AP team. Swinney went on to play in the North-South Shrine game in Miami, Fla., and was named the most outstanding player for the South team.

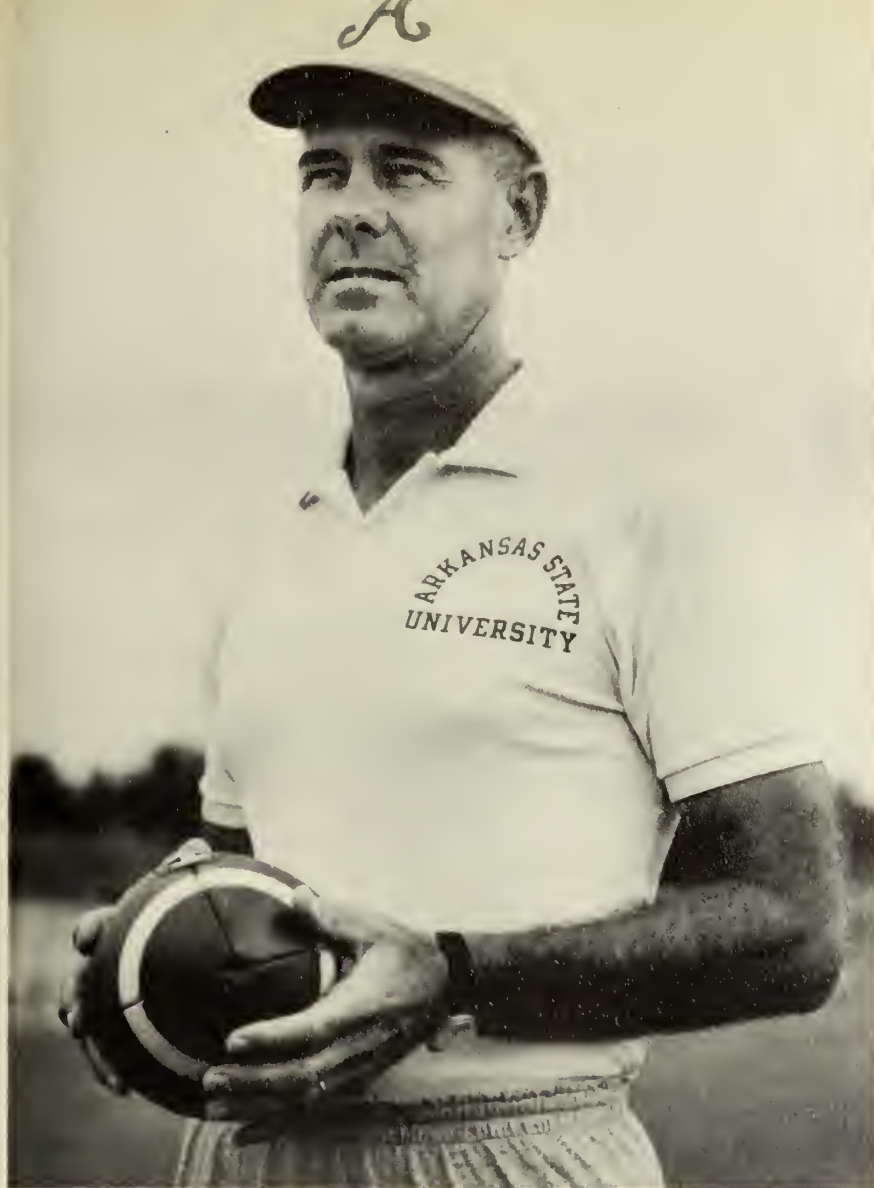

But a couple of other defensive stories were the ASU linebackers and a whole unit of pass bandits.

When Bergey graduated, there was considerable concern about replacing him. Instead of one player stepping in for Bergey, the linebacking corps joined together and worked as a unit. Week after week, top performances were turned in by regulars David Walls, Gary Cleve and Donnie Beshears, and, when needed, Butch Murray was ready in reserve.

But perhaps one of the most impressive team statistics recorded by the 1969 Indians was in pass interceptions. They stole a remarkable 32 passes in only nine games, breaking the old record of 20, which was set in a 10-game season. But it was not just the deep backs who were coming up with the interceptions. Linebacker Walls finished tied for third for team steals with five, three of them coming in one game, and even nose guard Rodney Downs got into the act with two "oskies."

The Scoreboard

Ellender Brings Grid Success To Indianland

Bennie Ellender and successful football seem to go hand in hand, and if you don't believe it, just look at Arkansas State University's rise in the football ranks since the former Tulane quarterback came to ASU in 1963.

He has become the second winningest coach in the school's history in only seven seasons, and, even more important, has produced more All-Americans at A-State than were produced during all the other years of Indian football combined.

Ellender has directed the Tribe to two straight Southland Conference championships and two consecutive Pecan Bowl appearances before regional television audiences.

After the 1969 season, Ellender was named Coach of the Year in the SLC and in District Seven of the College Division of the National Collegiate Athletic Association for the second year in a row. It was the third time he had won the awards.

Tribe Wins Home Opener

The Tribe opened the 1969 football season with one home game followed by two road trips, both of which were expected to provide tough competition. In the home opener against Eastern New Mexico, quarterback James Hamilton could do almost nothing wrong, and ASU ripped the Greyhounds, 53-20. Hamilton fired touchdown passes of 80 and 24 yards to Joe Waleszonia and 31 yards to Marshall Walls, and scored one TD on the ground himself. Walls also scored on a four-yard run. Tailbacks Jeff Sackett and Calvin Harrell scored on runs of 31 and three yards respectively, while reserve quarterback Cecil LaGrone rounded out the Indian scoring on a one-yard keeper.

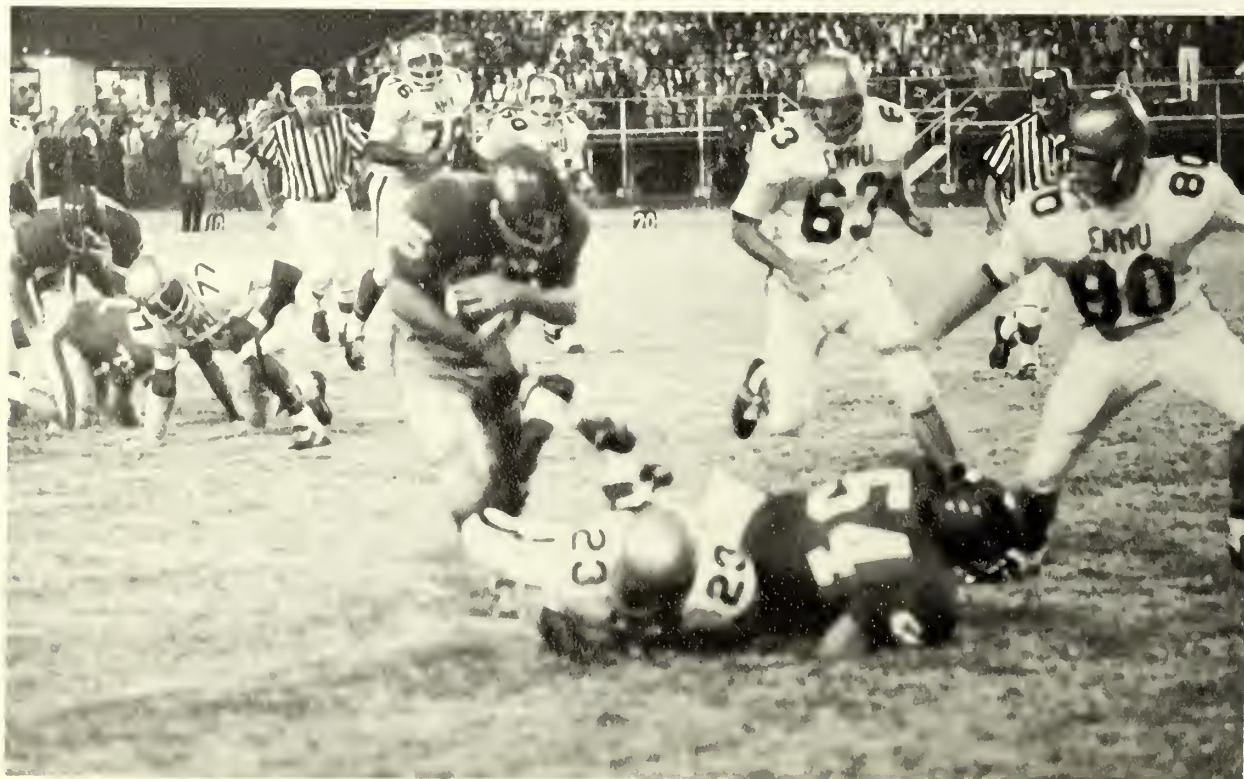

Against The Citadel at Charleston, S.C., A-State suffered its only loss of the season, a 14-10 heartbreaker, after leading for much of the contest. Hamilton passed nine yards to Walls to put the Indians on the scoreboard first late in the first half. The Bulldogs were not able to muster a score until the last play from scrimmage of the third period, but that tied the game at 7-7. Mike Everett's 22-yard field goal put ASU back in the lead with just over nine minutes left in the game. But only eight plays after the ensuing kickoff, the Bulldogs moved ahead and stayed there for the victory.

Tennessee Tech was supposed to be an underdog when the Indians faced the Eagles at Cookeville, Tenn., but the traditional rival almost embarrassed ASU, forcing it to come from behind for a 29-22 victory in a game that saw 30 points scored in the fourth quarter.

Hamilton's 13-yard run with just over six minutes left brought the Indians the win after the Eagles had taken a 22-21 lead. Other ASU scoring came on two short runs by Harrell and an eight-yard pass from Hamilton to Chet Douthit.

James Hamilton, above, and Marshall Walls, below, follow blocks by Calvin Harrell and Dan Buckley respectively for yardage against Eastern New Mexico.

Second Straight In Little Rock

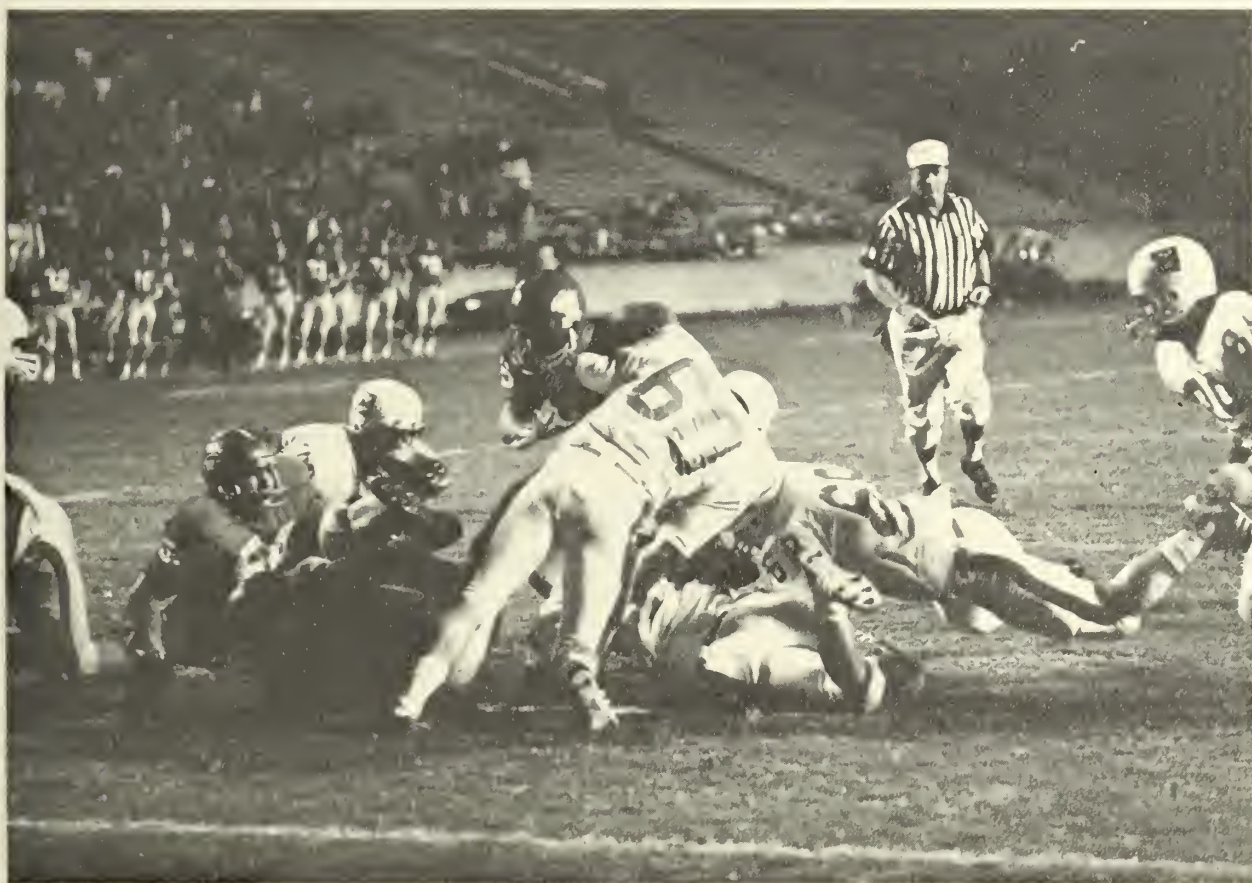

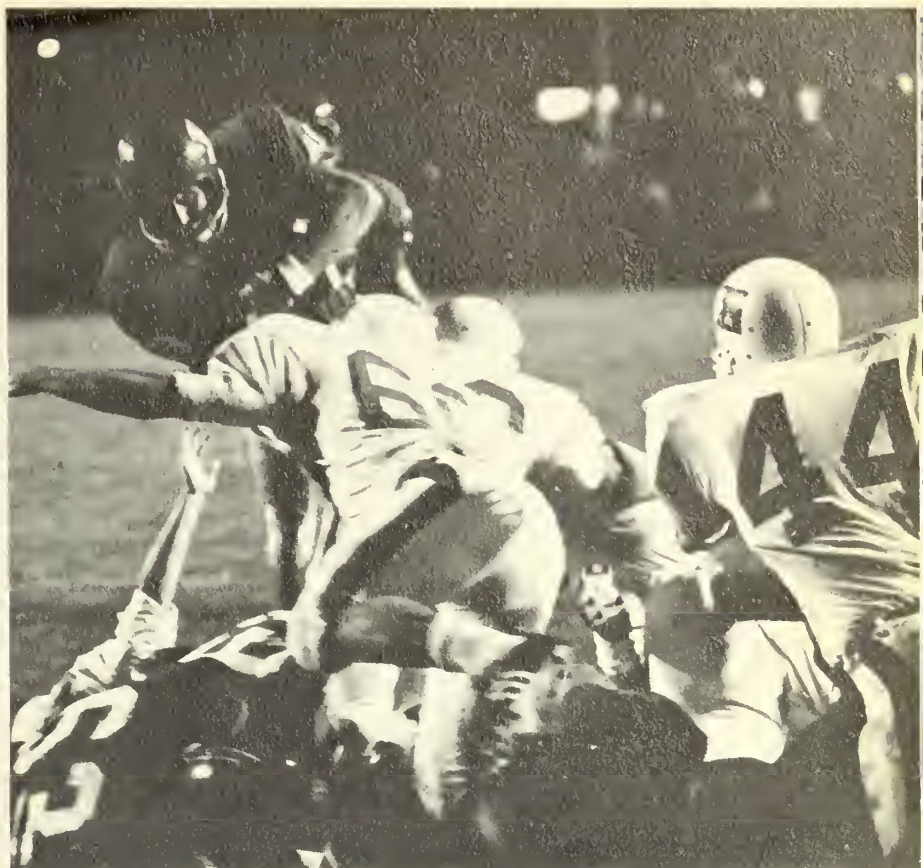

Arkansas State's defensive unit had its best game so far in the season and turned the Tribe's third appearance in Little Rock's War Memorial Stadium into a 26-0 victory over the University of Southwestern Louisiana.

The Indians jumped to a 19-0 halftime lead, forcing the Ragin' Cajuns to play catch up football and make several big mistakes. The first half scoring came on short runs by Calvin Harrell and James Hamilton and on a pair of field goals by Mike Everett. Harrell rounded out the ASU scoring on a two-yard run in the final period.

The defensive provided the offense with six scoring opportunities, recovering three fumbles and intercepting three passes, and the offense was able to cash in for points on three occasions.

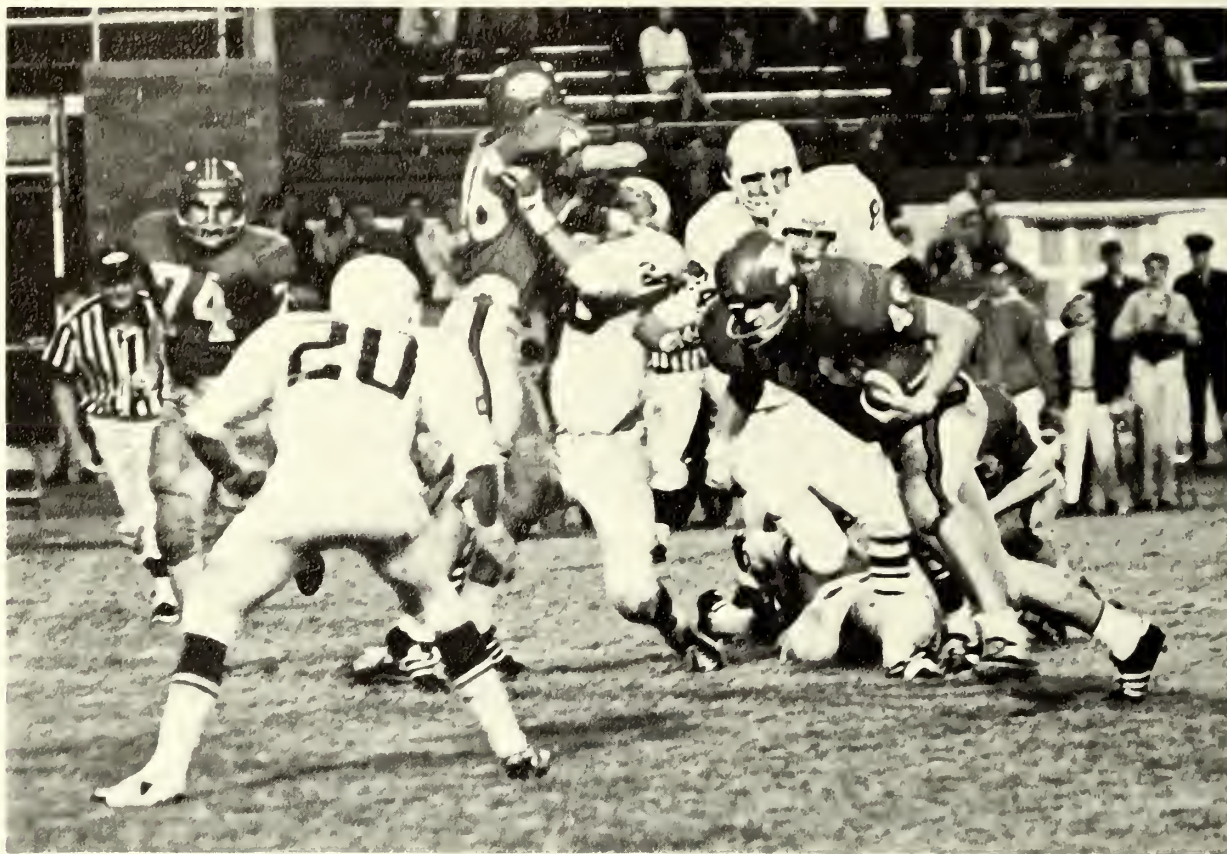

Right, Marshall Walls (45), Eugene Thompson (74) and Wayne Dorton (62) provide pass protection for James Hamilton (19). Below, Steve Lockhart fights for yardage after catching an aerial.

Indians Take Two Loop Contests

The Indians opened their defense of the Southland Conference title, and took a big step toward a second straight crown, by beating Abilene Christian, one of the top pre-season picks to dethrone ASU.

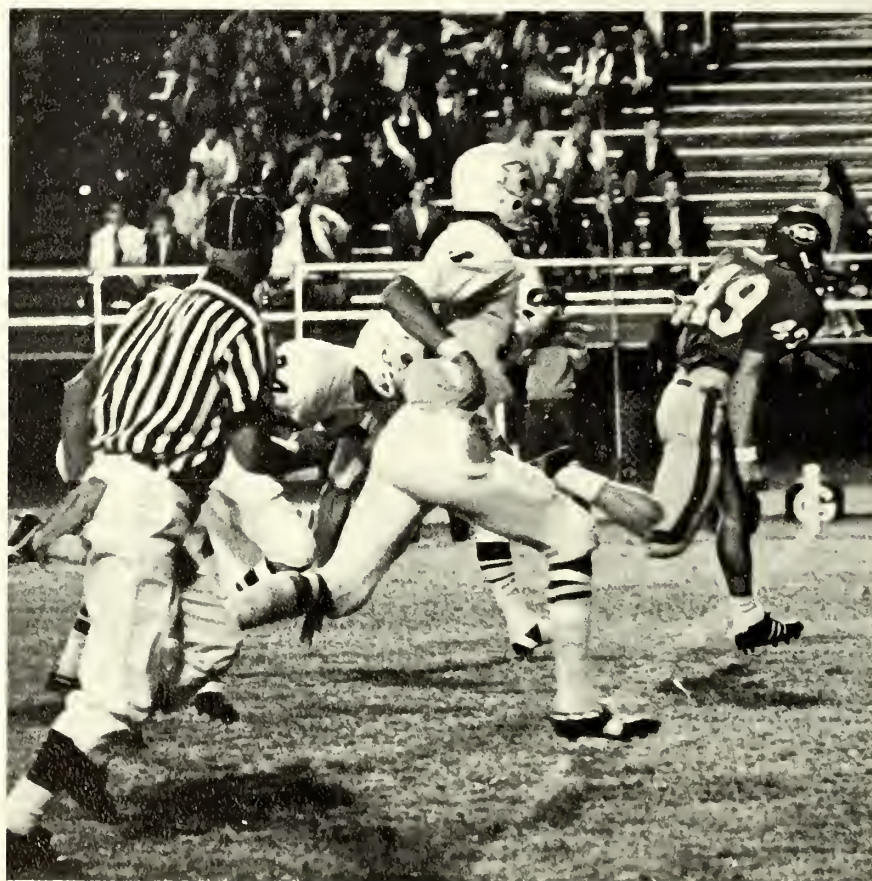

ACC rolled into Jonesboro with a 5-0 record, largely due to the efforts of quarterback Jim Lindsey, who had passed for more than 1,300 yards and eight touchdowns in those five games.

The game, as expected, was a battle between the offenses, and when the dust had cleared, the Indians found themselves on top of a 34-22 scoring spree. Tribe scoring came on Calvin Harrell's runs of 11 and five yards, Marshall Walls' 15-yard burst, James Hamilton's one-yard keeper, and Orley Massena's 40-yard return of an intercepted pass.

Against Lamar Tech the next week, A-State found the going rough for the first three quarters, but the defense forced a couple of mistakes in the final period, and the offense was able to capitalize for a 20-0 win. The Indians took a 7-0 lead in the first quarter on Hamilton's 13-yard pass to Steve Lockhart, but they were not able to muster another score until late in the fourth period when they scored twice, a one-yard sneak by Hamilton and a six-yard pass from Hamilton to Walls.

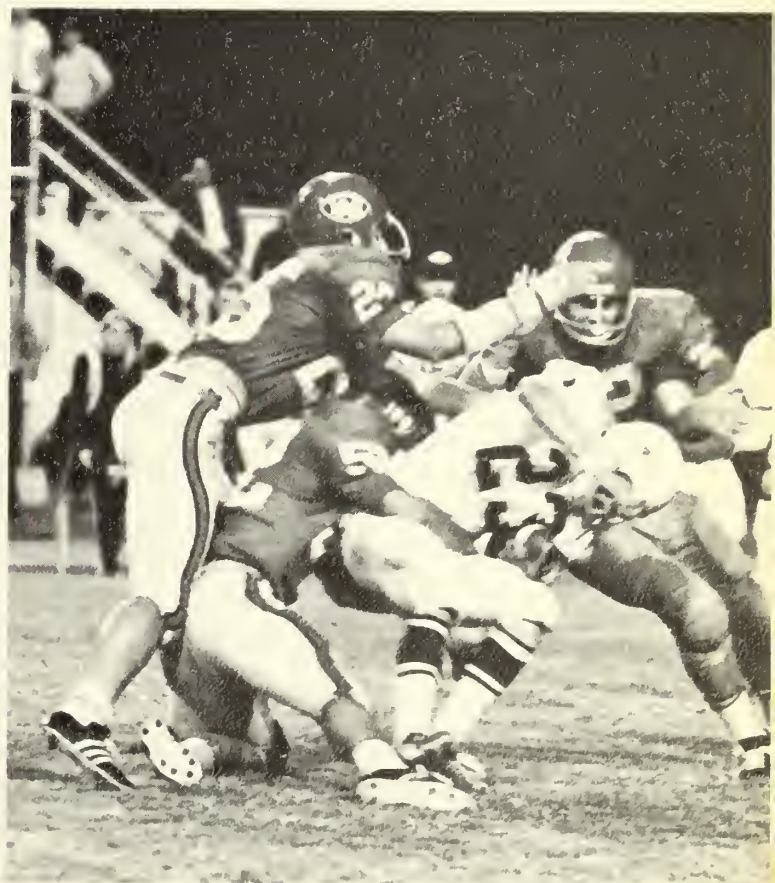

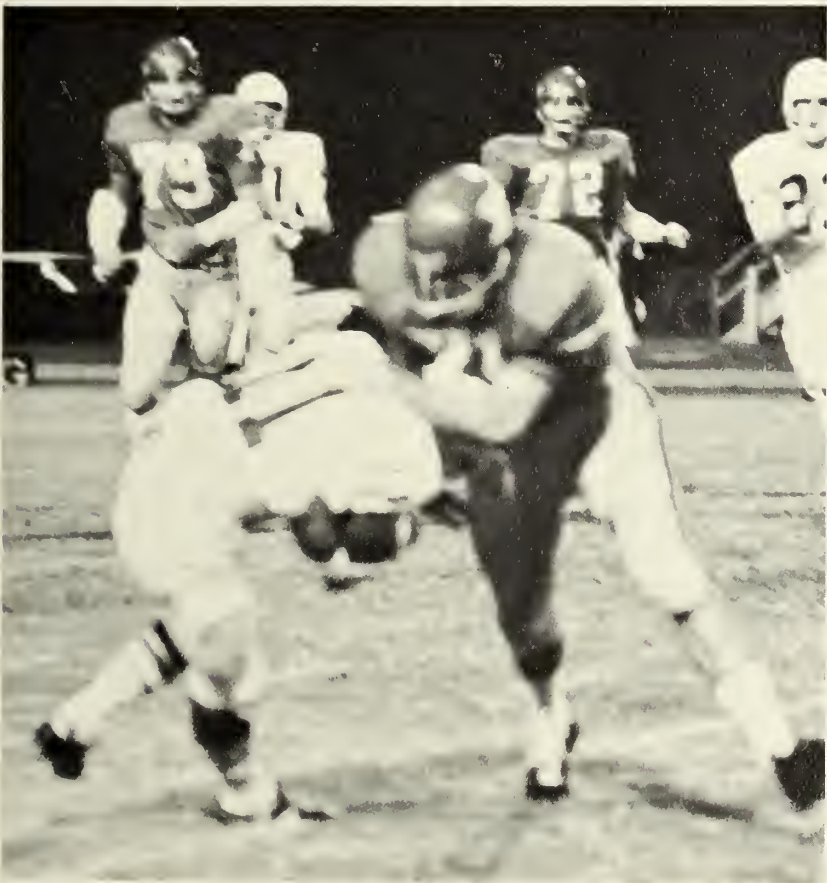

However, it was again the defense which kept ASU in the game, stopping the Cardinals three times inside the 20-yard line and stealing five Lamar passes.

Late Rally Spoils Homecoming

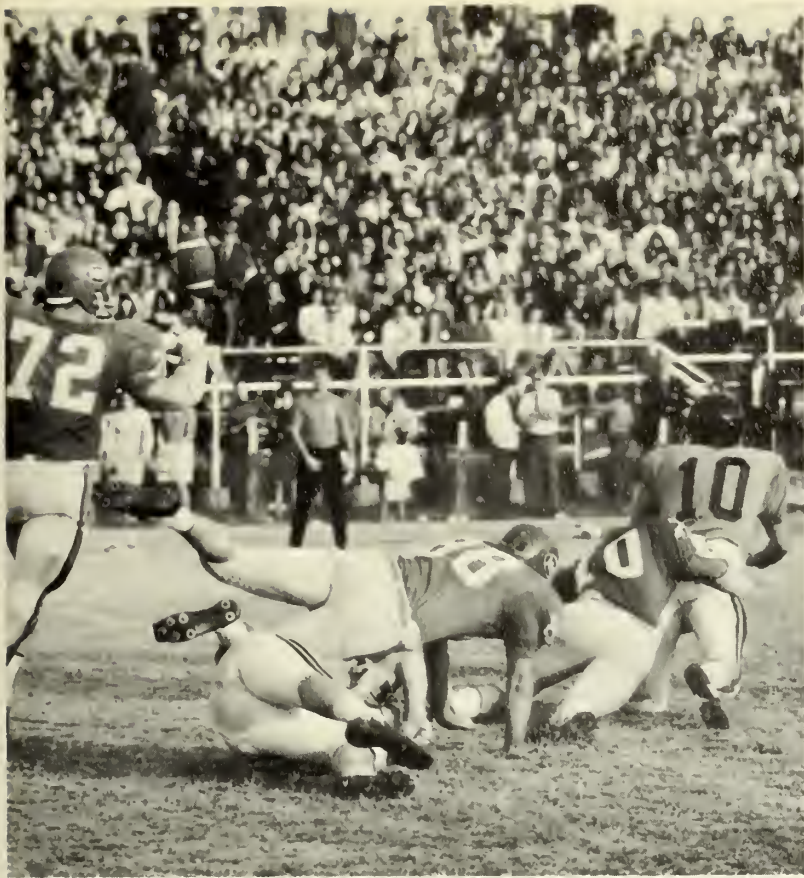

An incredible comeback, highlighted by a touchdown and two-point conversion after time had expired, ruined Homecoming, 1969, for the Indians, and brought Drake from the brink of defeat to a 21-21 tie.

Trailing 21-13 with only 45 seconds left in the game, the Bulldogs were on their own 16, 84 yards away from a score. They drove deep into Indian territory, but time ran out as quarterback Mike Grejbowski completed a pass to the ASU seven. However, a pass interference call gave Drake one more shot, and Grejbowski ran it in for the score, then passed to Duane Miller for two points and a tie. The Indians scored on Marshall Walls' 43-yard dash and on runs of one and four yards by James Hamilton.

Disappointment reigned in the Tribe dressing room after the game, the players wishing they could play the game over. At the time none of them even dreamed he would get his wish.

ASU Makes Final SLC Title Drive

Arkansas State entered the final two weeks of conference competition needing to win only one of its remaining two games to clinch a tie for the SLC title. The Tribe took both contests, but not without some hard work and a few shaky moments.

Against the University of Texas at Arlington, the Indians were blanked for three quarters and 10 minutes of the fourth, but the ASU defense had held the Rebels to only a third-period field goal. Quarterback James Hamilton scored two short-yardage touchdowns for a 13-3 victory. Calvin Harrell, still limping from an ankle injury suffered against Lamar, set a school and league record by carrying the ball 45 times, picking up 144 yards, but once more the story was on defense, as the Tribe defenders, led by linebacker David Walls' three steals, intercepted six UTA passes. The defense set up both TD's, one by a blocked punt, the other by an interception.

ASU had already cinched a tie for the championship and received its second straight Pecan Bowl bid when it journeyed to Trinity for the conference finale. But the Indians were not prepared for what hit them there, both before and during the contest. The night before the game, Hamilton and offensive tackle Eugene Thompson were struck by asthma attacks, throwing their playing status into doubt, but both received treatment and the attacks did not recur. On the field, the Tribe, possibly thinking ahead to the rematch with Drake, was caught off guard by the furious Tiger onslaught, but managed to hang on for a 27-17 win and an outright SLC championship for the second consecutive year. Harrell scored on runs of two and three yards, Hamilton tossed a 37-yard TD bomb to Chet Douthit, and Craig Johnson returned an intercepted pass 21 yards to account for the ASU points.

Sweet Revenge In Pecan Bowl

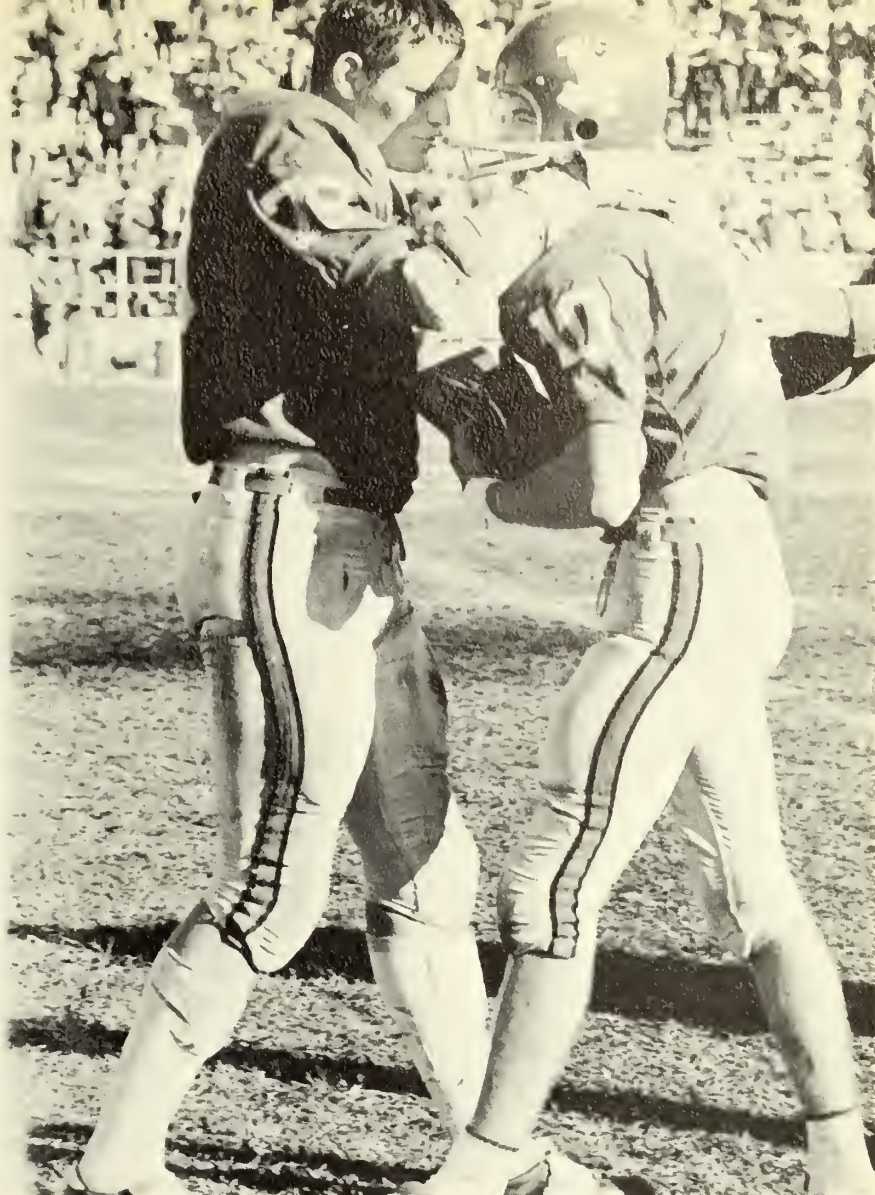

It was early in the first quarter of the 1969 Pecan Bowl, and Arkansas State fans were thinking back to the 1968 post-season contest. In that game, All-America tailback Frank McGuigan had been injured in the opening period, was never able to return, and the Indians lost to top-ranked North Dakota State. Now it was a year later, and, almost unbelievably, ASU was faced with a similar situation. Quarterback James Hamilton was injured on the Tribe's third offensive play, and it was soon determined he would not be able to play any more that day. But then a 5-10, 160-pound ball of fire named Wayne "Bubba" Crocker took over as field general and directed the Indians to a sweet, 29-21 victory over Drake, avenging a 21-21 Homecoming tie.

Crocker fired touchdown passes of 75 yards to Steve Lockhart and eight yards to Virgil Peyton, in addition to running for one TD and a two-point conversion to give State a 22-0 lead at halftime. The Bulldogs countered with 21 points in the second half, but a three-yard run by Calvin Harrell in the final period sewed up the victory.

For Crocker, a senior, it was the last chance to perform in an Arkansas State uniform, and perform he did, earning the most valuable offense player award in the game. ASU swept the individual game honors, as tackle Clovis Swinney took the defensive award.

Football: More Than A Game

When people think of a football player, they usually envision someone who has his fun knocking other players around four months out of the year and then sits around doing nothing the rest of the time. Few people realize that football season, for the players, coaches, managers and trainers anyway, begins with spring training in February and runs, except for a break of just over two months in the summer, until January of the next year.

In February, the players begin a fitness program with such unglamorous activities as weight lifting and running, while the coaches begin testing new ideas for next season. Everyone returns in early August, and the program is in full swing two weeks before the other students return for classes. After the season, when the fans turn to basketball, the football coaches must start thinking about next year and devote more time to recruiting, a year-round job in itself.

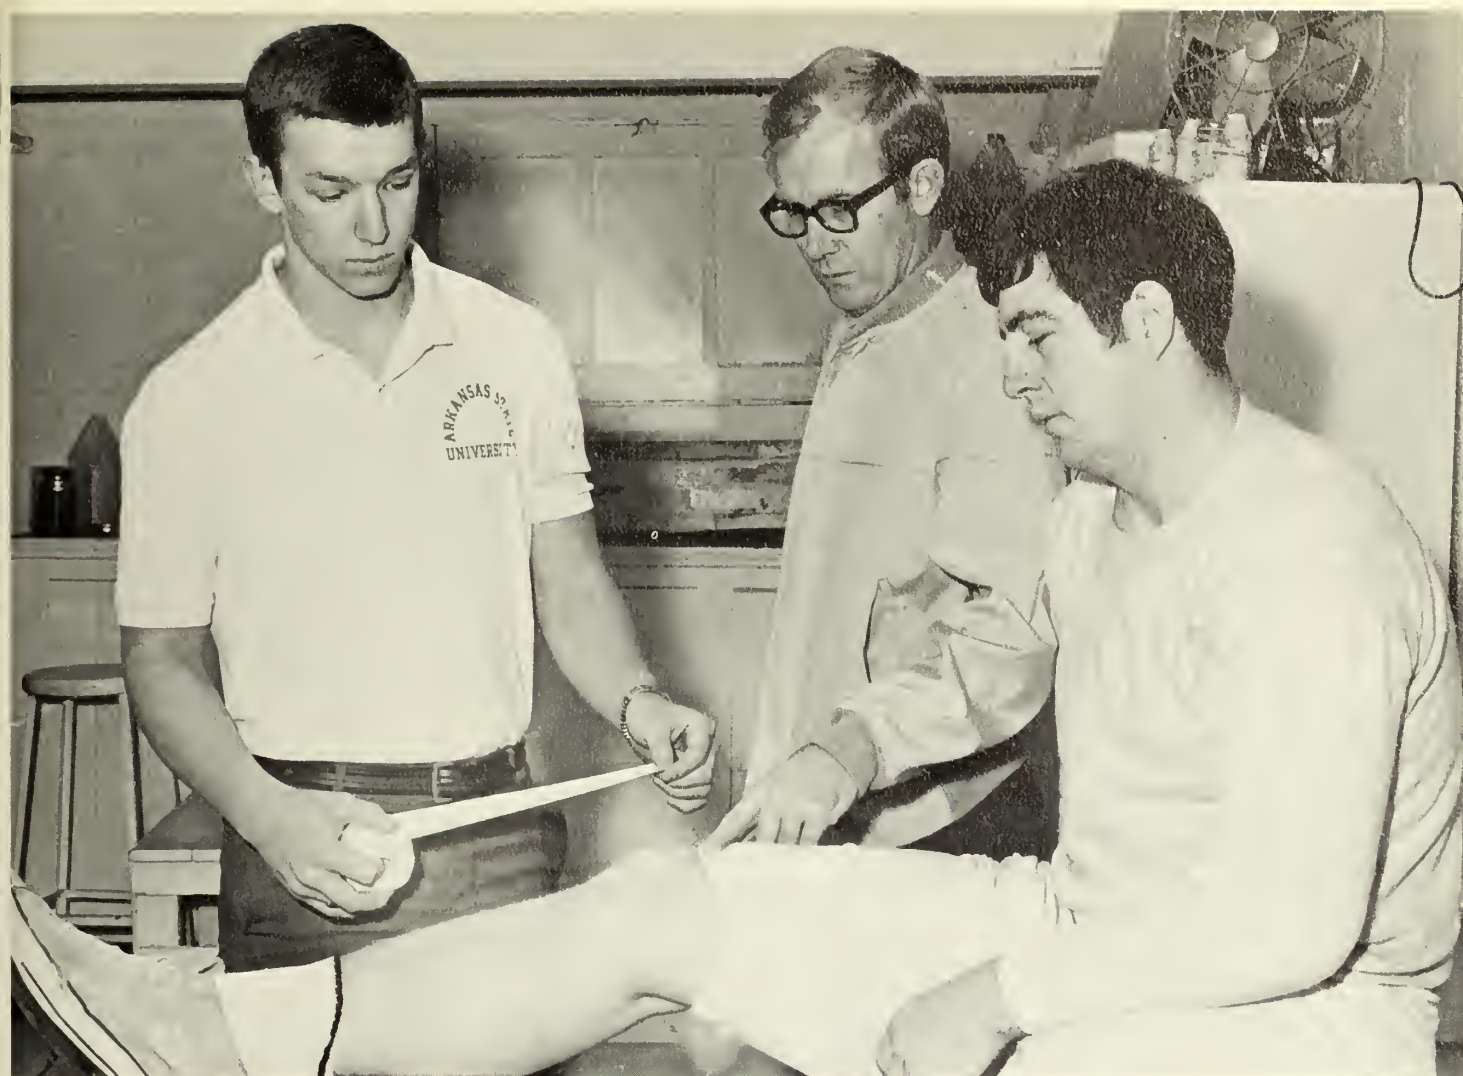

Although they are seldom noticed, the managers and trainers play a vital role on any football team. The managers are responsible for the issue and care of equipment, packing and unpacking for road trips, and keeping the dressing room in some semblance of order, while the trainers' job is to prevent injuries to the players and care for them if they occur. Managers and trainers work an average of 47 hours a week in addition to being full-time students.

A player must also be a recruiter and a representative of the school wherever he goes, in addition to making his grades to remain eligible to play football. But somehow they manage to do all this and still have time for other activities such as fraternities, Student Government Association, and part-time jobs. Also, the players sponsored a Christmas party for orphans.

A successful football team is just that, a team. It must have the proper coordination among all the elements of which it is composed.

Indians Finish Second In SLC Cross Country

Arkansas State University's cross country hopes suffered a major setback when Kelly Parrish, one of the team's top runners, was paralyzed in a motorcycle accident early in the season. However, transfer Bob Gray ran magnificently all season, leading the Indians to a second-place finish in the Southland Conference cross country competition. Gray won eight individual races during the season, and finished 25th in the NCAA championships in New York City and 11th in the United States Track and Field Federation meet at Lexington, Ky.

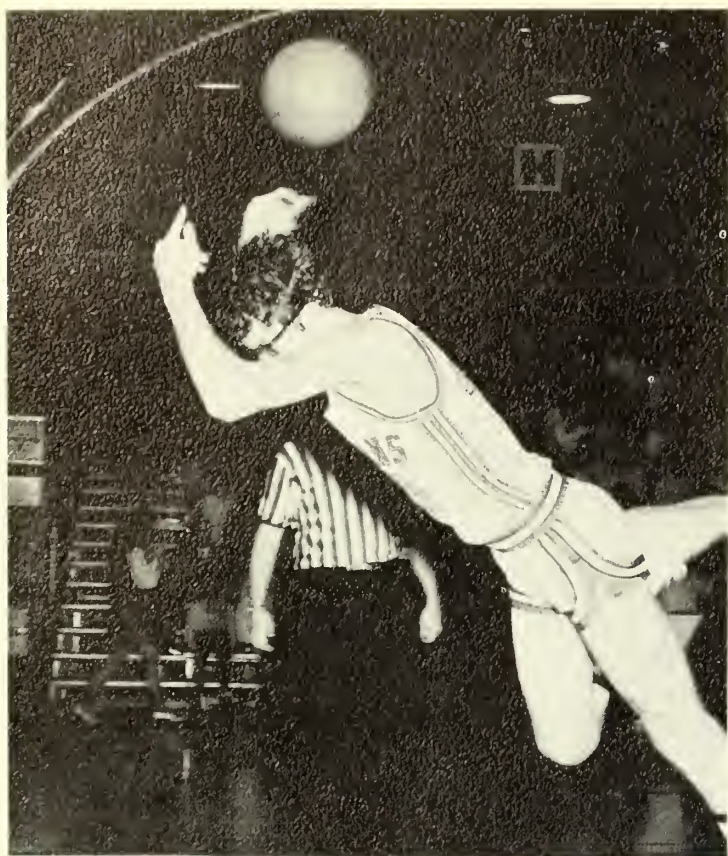

The Indians won a 10-team meet and three dual meets, while losing two duals, finishing third in a six-team meet and eighth in a 13-team contest.

Right, Bob Gray, ASU's top distance runner, was named to the NCAA's University Division All-America team. Below, coach Thad Talley supervises a conditioning drill.

Cage Year Shows Improvement

Arkansas State University's basketball team started the 1969-70 season with a new coach and high hopes of breaking out of the slump it had been in for the past two years. The Tribe had not recorded a winning season since the 1966-67 Southland Conference championship team, but new mentor John Rose had inherited five lettermen from last year's squad plus a trio of outstanding transfers to bolster the team's chances.

Veterans Shelvy Haywood, Mike Wise, John McKay, John Belcher and Tom Wal-eszonia, along with transfers Allan Pruett and Ben Johnson helped A-State to one of its best starts in recent years, winning four of the first five, but three losses in a row put the Indians back at .500. Freshman Steve Brooks broke into the starting lineup after Johnson became ineligible midway through the season, and he and Belcher provided a 1-2 inside combination few teams could cope with, and even if they could contain Brooks and Belcher inside, they still had the outside shooting of Pruett, Wise and Haywood to stop.

ASU played better than .500 ball during the second half of the season, and finished strongly, winning six of its last eight games for a 15-9 season mark (including one exhibition victory). The Indians wound up tied for second in the conference race with a 4-4 mark.

Indians Place Three On All-Conference Basketball Teams

Tribe Gets Good Start

Opening with two wins in Indian Field House and then taking two of three games on the road, Arkansas State's basketball Indians posted a 4-1 record after their first five games of the season.

Playing back-to-back contests with the Southeast Oklahoma Savages proved to be a valuable lesson for the Indians as far as playing under pressure goes. In the first game, the Tribe edged the Savages 78-76 behind the shooting of Allan Pruett and John McKay, who had 21 and 19 points respectively. The Indians took another squeaker from Southeast the following night, with Big John Belcher scoring 16 points in the 63-61 win. In the first road game of the season, A-State rallied in the second half to score an 83-74 win over the University of Tennessee at Martin Volunteers. The Crimson Tide of Alabama dealt the Indians their first loss of the season in a 93-79 contest. ASU came back with an 81-72 victory over The Citadel. Four ASU starters finished in double figures, with Belcher netting 29 points.

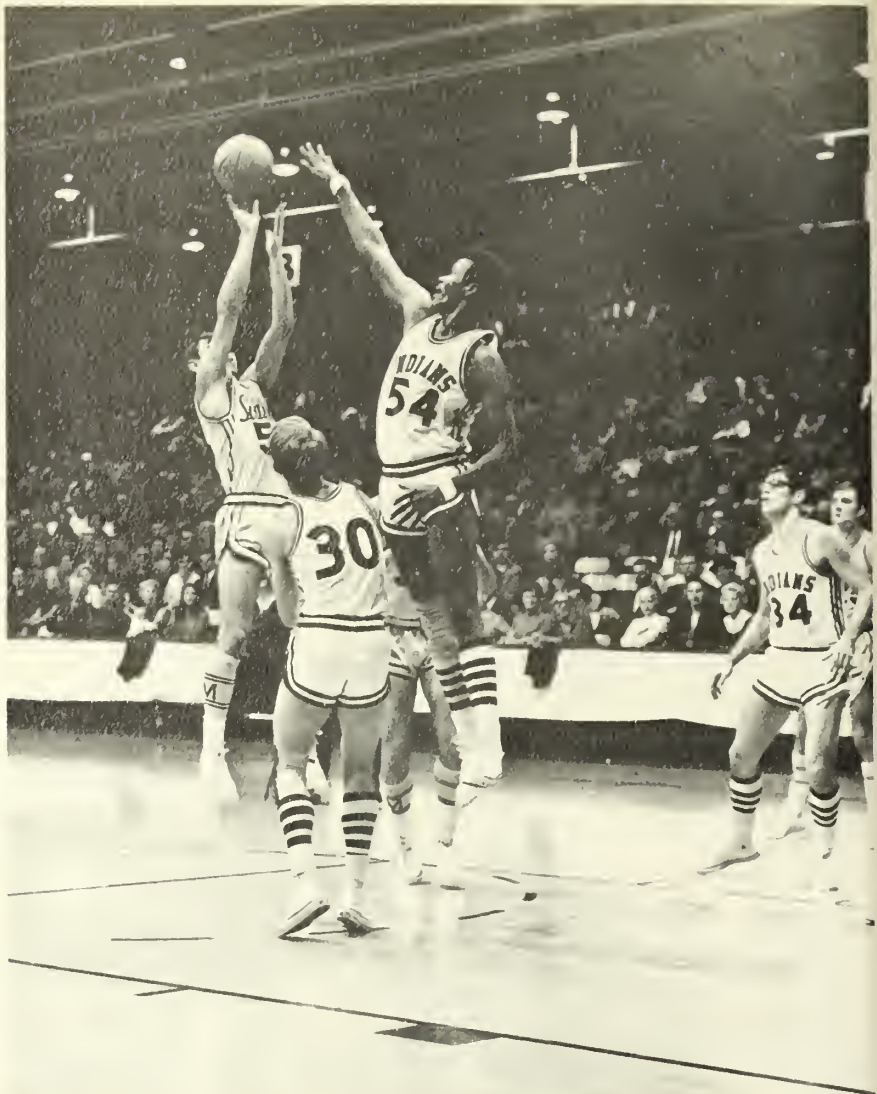

Above, left, Mike Wise fires a jump shot against Southeast Oklahoma. At right, an unidentified ASU player is sandwiched between a pair of Savages while fighting for a rebound, as John Belcher looks on. Below, Allan Pruett tries a jumper from the side. On the opposite page, Belcher attempts a tip-in, top right, and a jump shot at bottom right. Bottom left, Tom Waleszon drives for a layup.

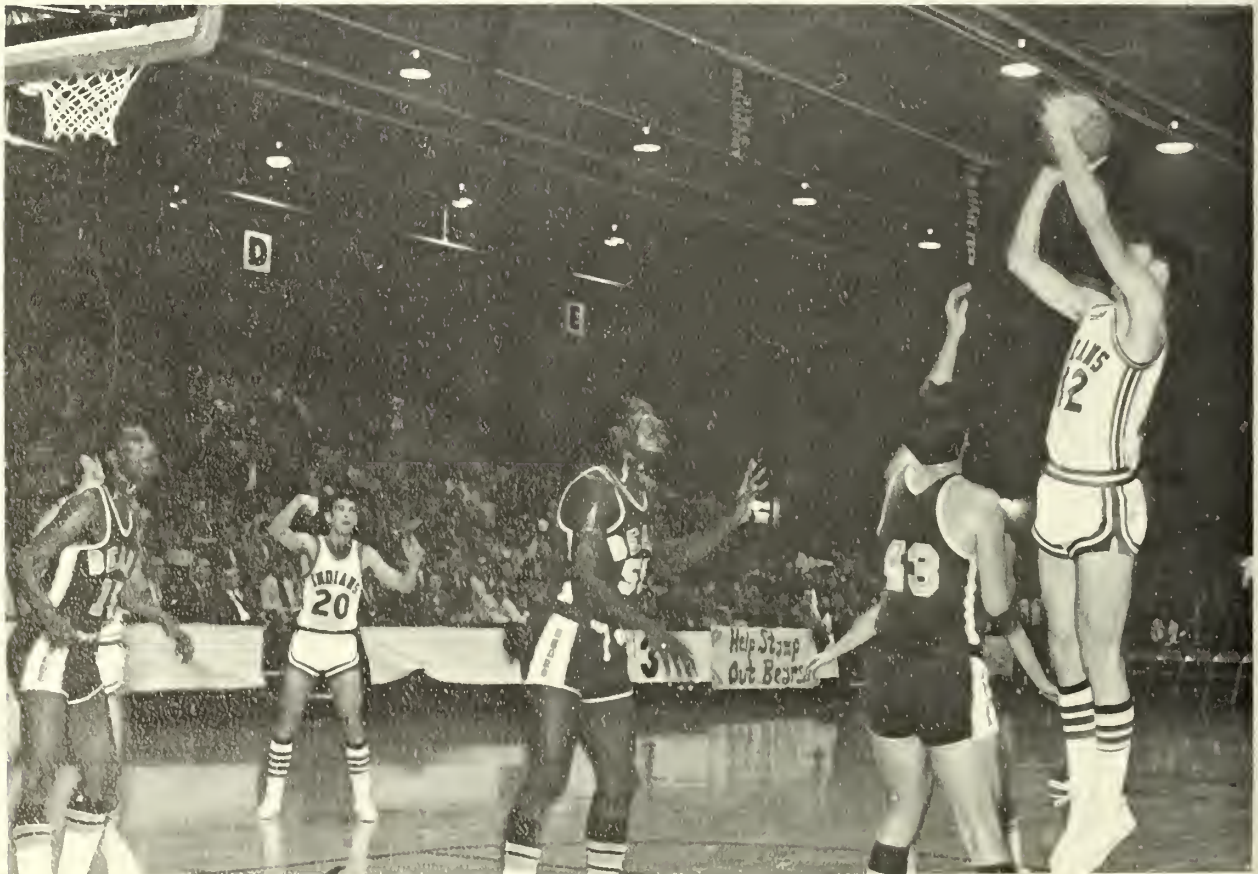

Indians Hit Three-Game Losing String

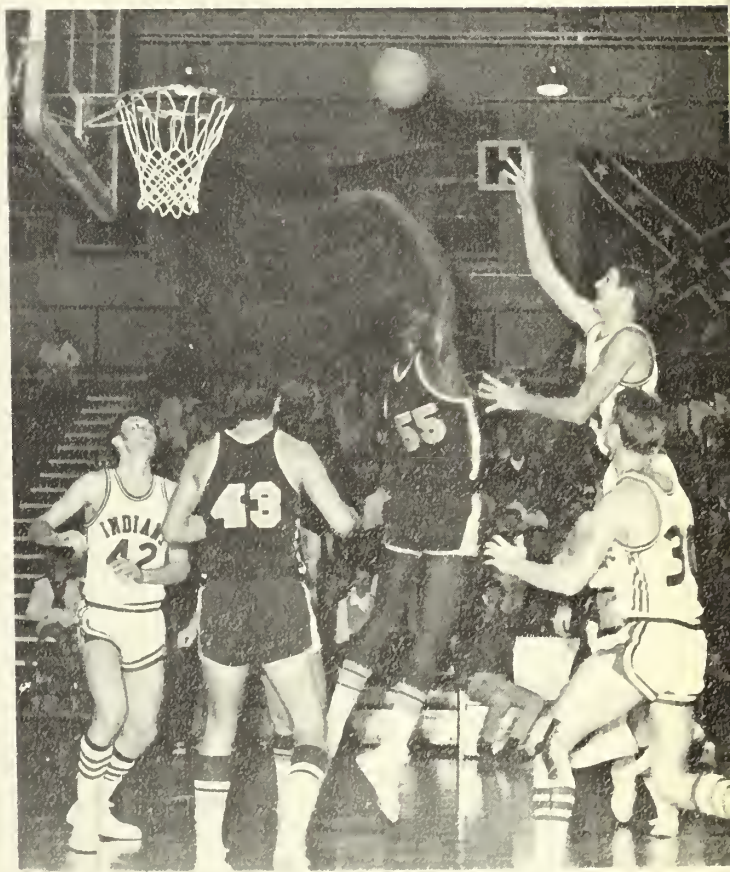

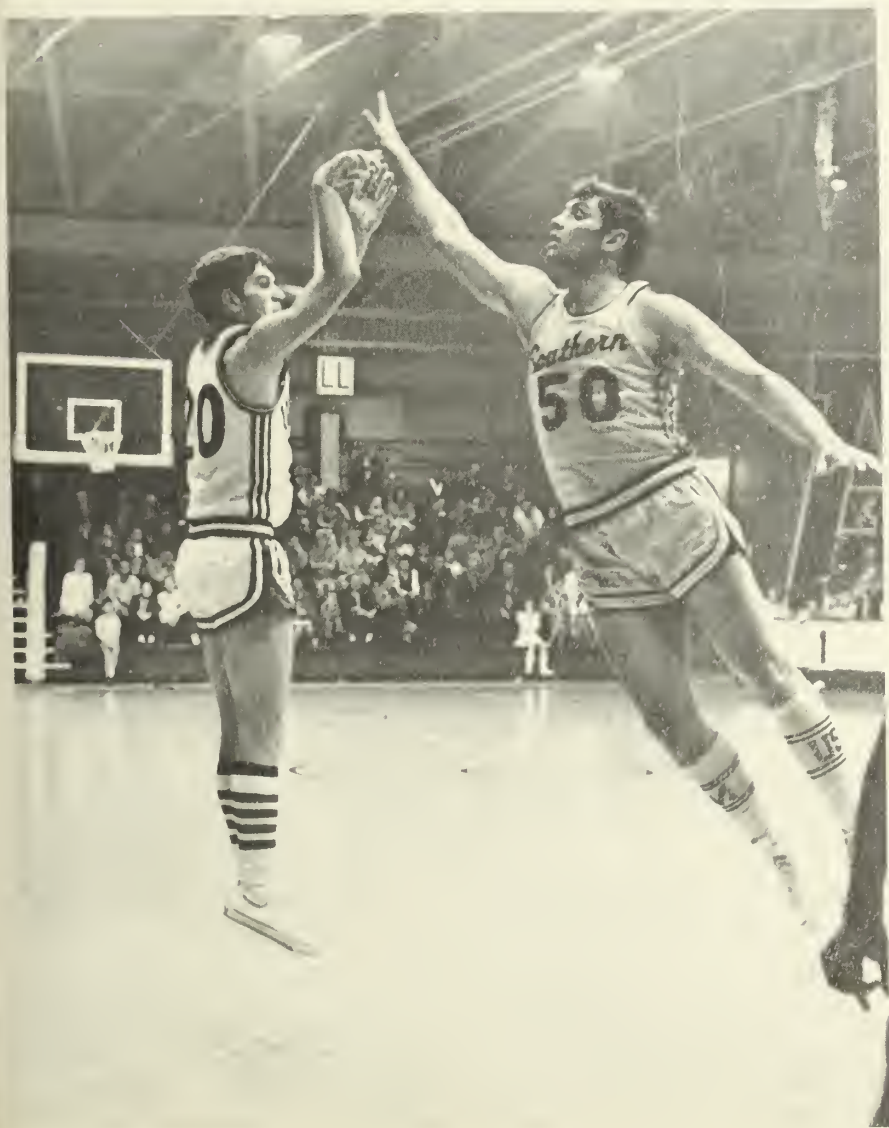

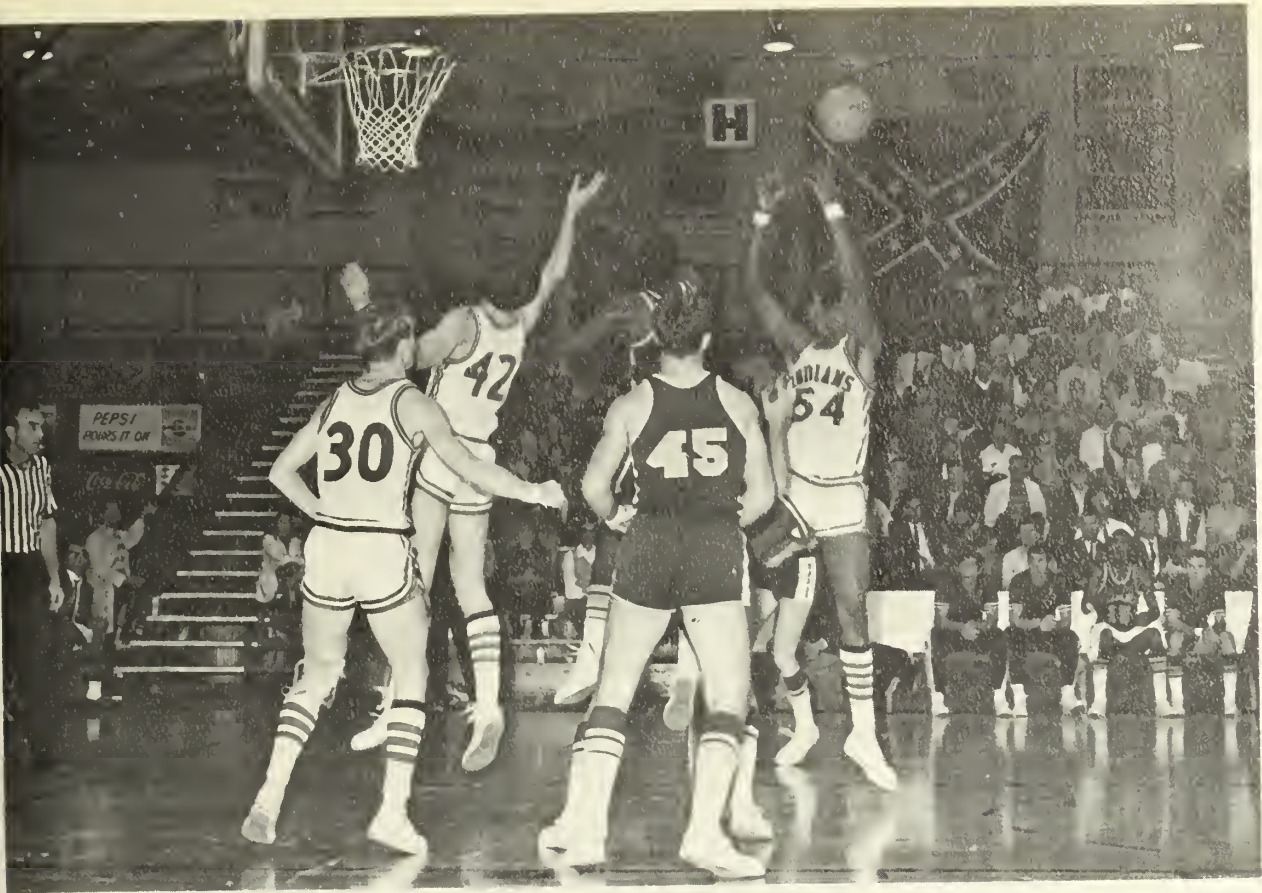

Santa Claus bypassed the Indians during the Christmas vacation, as Southwest Missouri and Southern Mississippi teamed up to hand the Tribe three losses in a row.

Southwest's Bears, ranked 13th in the NCAA College Division at the time, broke open a close game in the second half and went on to an 88-74 win, despite a 27-point performance by Allan Pruett. Southern Mississippi put six players in the twin figures column as it blasted the Indians 116-89. Ben Johnson and Pruett each scored 22 points in what started and ended as a losing battle for ASU. A-State's rematch with the Bears at Springfield, Mo., turned out much the same as did the first contest. The Bears won by a larger margin than before (88-72) and led by as much as 21 points at one point. John Belcher dropped in 25 points in the losing effort.

ASU Stuns Two Powerhouses

Arkansas State came out of its slump in a big way, returning to Indian Field House to hand No. 1-ranked Kentucky Wesleyan an 88-84 loss in what head basketball coach John Rose called "the biggest win we have had in three seasons," and then went on to crush the Pan American Broncos 89-76 for additional prestige.

Freshman Steve Brooks, starting his first varsity game, pumped in 16 points and gave a sterling defensive effort to aid the Tribe's upset of the NCAA College Division's defending champions. John Belcher added 21 points, while Allan Pruett, who led the ASU scoring, bucketed 25 points. Belcher made great use of his position as the tallest man on the court against the Broncos, as he deposited 33 points and pulled down 19 rebounds. Mike Wise added 16 points, as the Indians never trailed and led by as much as 14 points during the tilt.

State Takes Three Straight In Home Stand

Arkansas State's Indians visited Southeast Missouri's Indians and found the northern Tribe too hot to handle, as SEMO took a 79-57 triumph. Following that loss at Cape Girardeau, Mo., ASU returned home and won three straight contests from UT Martin, Delta State and SEMO. Shelvy Haywood pumped in 12 points in his initial starting assignment as the Indians dropped the Vols 73-67 for the second time in the season. Against Delta State, the Tribe came out on top of a shooting battle 93-88 as both teams hit 50 percent from the field. Mike Wise netted a season high of 21 points for ASU in a 76-66 rematch victory over SEMO.

First SLC Games Rough

The Indians entered a four-game stand with their conference sisters with hopes of a league title, but were rudely awakened when all but one of them dumped ASU. Only Abilene Christian fell to the Tribe during the series.

Kirby Collins' bucket with two seconds remaining broke a 51-51 tie and gave Lamar Tech a 53-51 decision over A-State at Beaumont, Tex. The Tribe had led by four points with three minutes left. Allan Pruett scored 26 points in a losing effort against Trinity as the Tigers registered a 97-76 victory that dropped State to an 0-2 conference mark. Abilene Christian suffered its sixth loop defeat at the hands of the Indians in a 78-71 game. Mike Wise hit for 22 points, while Pruett and Steve Brooks added 15 each. The University of Texas at Arlington crushed any remaining hopes ASU had for a conference title in a 71-69 heart-breaker. In an exhibition game against Campus Crusade for Christ's Athletes in Action, the Tribe posted a 79-70 win.

Arkansas State Ends Season With A Rush

The Indians faced a wild night of action against Delta State prior to moving into a final four-game conference series to wind up the season. The Statesmen came into the second half of play with flared tempers which resulted in the ejection of three Delta players. ASU faced the flareups coolly, and took an 82-52 win.

Various upsets among the conference leaguers gave Arkansas State new life in its bid for a second-place finish, with Lamar having all but claimed the top spot. The Indians made the most of their second chance, dropping Lamar in a nerve-shattering double overtime triumph. Allan Pruett's shot from 35 feet gave the Tribe an 89-88 win. State then squared its conference record at 3-3 and brought its overall slate to 14-8 with an 88-80 victory over the Tigers of Trinity. The Indians inched even closer to that second-place finish by whipping Abilene 74-68. The win assured A-State of at least a tie for the runner-up position. However, the Indians lost in their bid for sole possession of second place and had to settle for a three way tie after Arlington nipped them 90-85 in the season finale.

Intramurals: Student Outlet

In the fall, women played softball, while the men's football program was in full swing.

Other women's activities included swimming, basketball and table tennis.

The post-season football and basketball tournaments were won by Pi Kappa Alpha and Lambda Chi Alpha. The Pikes (top) took the trophy in the ATO-sponsored football tourney, while Lambda Chi won the Pike basketball meet.

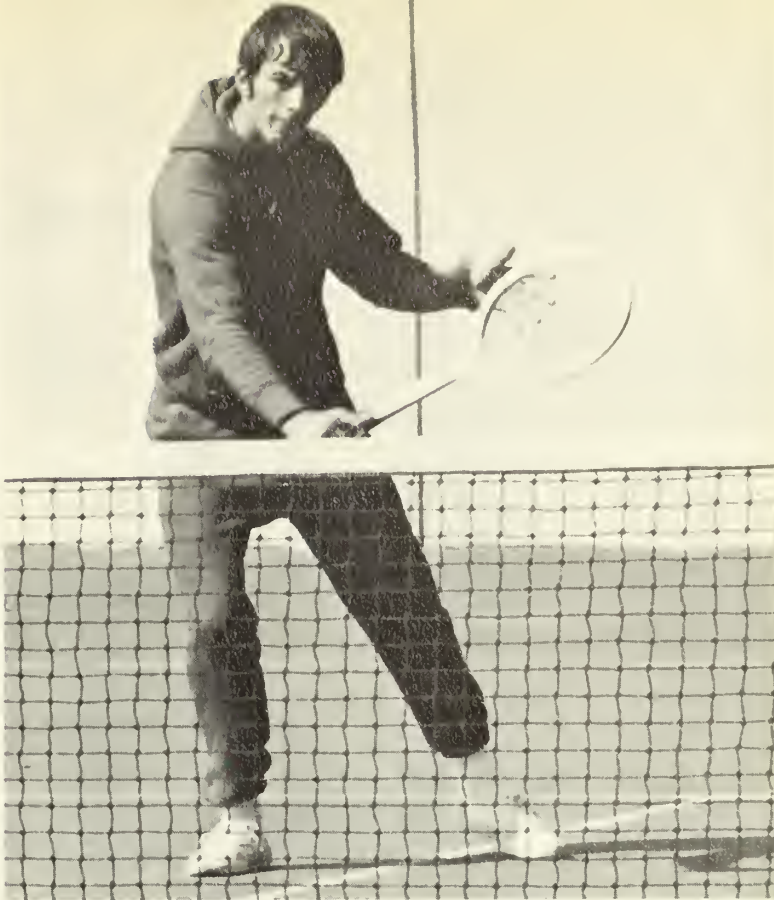

Bowling and basketball were also among intramural sports for men, with basketball especially drawing a large number of participants and spectators.

Hill Shatters NCAA Record

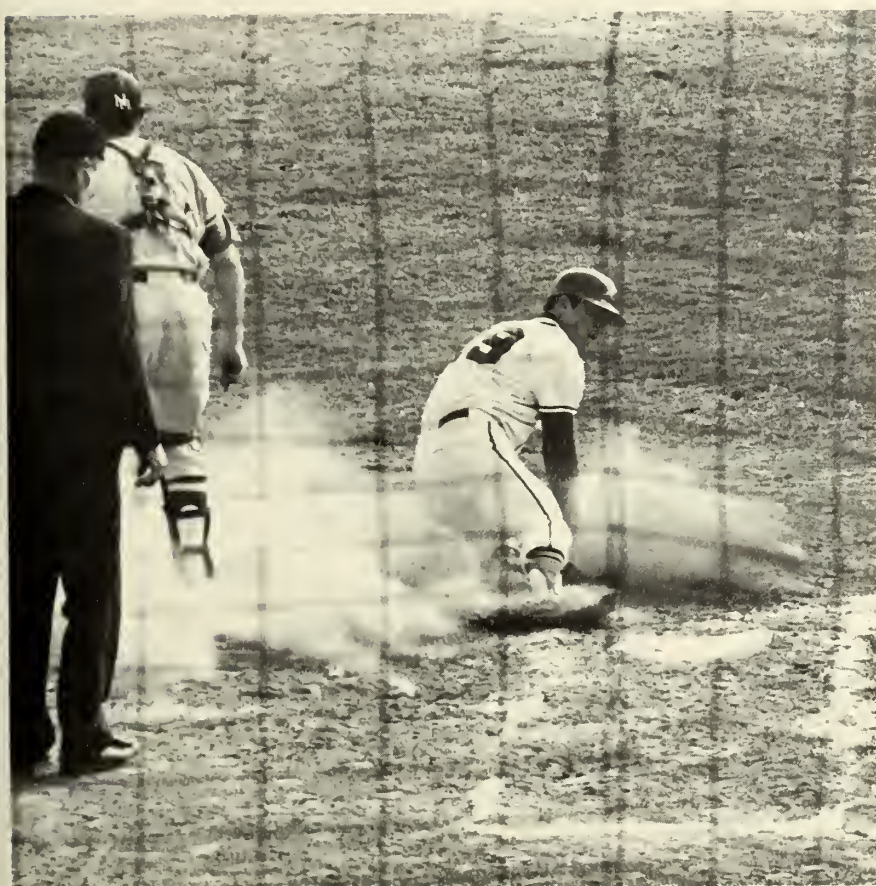

Thomas Hill, right, made the track world sit up and take notice when he broke the National Collegiate Athletic Association record in the 60-yard indoor high hurdles at Detroit, Mich., in March. Hill's clocking of 6.9 seconds was only one-tenth of a second from the world record in the event. Earlier in the indoor season, Hill barely missed another world mark by running a 13.6 120-yard high hurdles race in the Astrodome at Houston, Tex. The world record in the event is 13.5.

Theme for the 1970 Indian was taken from the book To Be Alive! by Alastair Reid with permission from the Macmillan Company, New York. Cover and division pages were designed by Ronny Becker.

*Did you ever feel joy grow like a bubble bigger and bigger inside you?
If so, then you must know how
I feel now.*

Thanks for the memories,

Ron Becker
